Tables for interviews will be available. Inquiries on this service should be addressed to the Annual Meeting Manager, Scholars Press, P.O. Box 1608, Decatur, GA 30031-1608 (404/636-4757).

INFORMATION DESK/MESSAGES

Members who wish to get in touch with officers and staff of the American Academy of Religion, Society of Biblical Literature, and Scholars Press may leave messages at the Information Desk. Members with special requests or problems should also leave a message at this location. Message boards will be provided for attendees-at-large.

Organizations using suites should notify the Information Desk of their location upon arrival at the Annual Meeting.

TRANSPORTATION

MICA, the official AAR/SBL travel company, can provide discount airfares, free shuttle from the airport to your hotel, and a chance to win a free airline ticket. For complete information, see page 9. Logan Airport is conveniently linked to the city by cabs, subways, and shuttle buses that stop at the major hotels. (Shuttle bus fare is $3.50.) The Blue Line on the "T" (subway) takes you to Airport Station at Logan. From there, a terminal shuttle bus will drop you at your particular air terminal. Boston's subway system is easy to understand, having only four lines, designated by the colors Blue, Orange, Green, and Red. Each line passes through at least two of the four downtown stations: Park Street, Washington Street, State Street, and Government Center. The fare is $.60.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

The security staff of both the Marriott and Sheraton are trained in CPR and basic first aid procedures. In an emergency, dial "0" for the operator.

AAR/SBL ABSTRACTS AND PROGRAM SUPPLEMENTS

These publications will be available at the Information desk, located adjacent to Registration on the fourth floor of the Marriott. Tickets for the Abstracts are issued with the registration packet. Supplements are complimentary to registrants.

HOTEL LOCATIONS

A covered walkway leads from the Marriott to Prudential Center and the adjacent Sheraton Boston Hotel & Towers. Walking time is 8 minutes.

PUBLISHERS' COMBINED DISPLAY/JOURNALS DISPLAY

Scholars who have published books they would like to display at the 1987 Annual Meeting should contact their publishers and encourage them to participate in the exhibit. Publishers who do not have a sufficient number of titles to warrant renting a booth can exhibit their books in the Publishers' Combined Display. Arrangements for participation can be made by contacting the Annual Meeting Manager, Scholars Press, P.O. Box 1608, Decatur, GA 30031-1608 (404/636-4757).

A special exhibit of journals in religious studies will be on display adjacent to the Publishers' Combined Display.

MEDIA ROOM

Media personnel are welcome and registration is complimentary. Media staff should check with the AAR/SBL Registration Manager for assistance.

PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS

Audio-visual equipment must be ordered by November 1. In the past, we have made "last-minute" accommodations which resulted in many problems. On-site requests will not be accepted.

BACK BAY

As the name implies, Back Bay was originally under water, a part of the Charles River. The Bay was rather shallow—actually a mudflat, reputed to be a health hazard in the mid-1800s. The parcel of land was divided in 1856, and the filling-in and developing process continued for the next 30 years. The most noted contributions of the Back Bay Commission are the Public Garden and the Mall on Commonwealth Avenue, known both as Boston's Champs Elysee for its Parisian style, and as Boston's Emerald Necklace. Visitors can thank the Commissioners for the orderly design of Back Bay according to a system not found in the rest of the city—a logical grid with the east to west cross streets named alphabetically after British Dukes.

Boston is known for the coexistence of the old and the new, and a prime case-in-point is Copley Place (1983-84), one block north of Copley Square (named after famed artist John Singleton Copley). From a vantage point at the corner of Boylston and Dartmouth Streets one can view Trinity Church (1872); The Copley Plaza Hotel (1910—once the site of the Museum of Fine Arts); The John Hancock tower (1972); the Boston Public Library (1887 with an addition in 1971); The "New" Old South Church (1875); and Copley Square, in which lies Boston's version of New York's Fifth Avenue—Newbury Street, lined with elegant shops, art galleries, restaurants, and sidewalk cafés.

The Back Bay is home to a number of noted retail, recreational, religious, cultural, historic, and other points of interest.

SPECIAL AIRFARES

Save 5% off published promotional fares or 35-40% off coach fares for the Boston meeting, December 5-8, 1987.

The AAR/SBL have again made arrangements through their travel coordinator, MICA, Inc., for substantial discount fares on Delta and American Airlines for the 1987 meeting.

FREE AIRLINE TICKET!

Win a free airline ticket. Last year, three tickets were awarded to our members. Simply make your airline reservations through MICA and your name will be entered into a drawing for a free round-trip airline ticket good for travel anywhere in the USA. The drawing will be held during the Boston meeting.

GUARANTEED SAVINGS!

Only through MICA can you receive a discount of 5% off any Delta and American Airlines published promotional fare (meeting all restrictions), or 35-40% off regular roundtrip fares with a 7-day advance notice.

Please note that the lowest published promotional fares require a Saturday night stay, are subject to an airline change-cancellation penalty, and must be purchased 30 days prior to departure.

FREE ARRIVAL TRANSFER!

With tickets purchased through MICA, you will receive a free transfer from the airport to the hotel.

NATIONWIDE TOLL-FREE NUMBER!

Make your reservations today! For reservations on all airlines, call MICA directly on their nationwide toll-free number, 1-800-826-6011. MICA reservationists will advise you of the most convenient flights and lowest airfares available. You may pay by credit card or ask to be invoiced. MICA will mail your tickets to you directly along with your free arrival transfer voucher.

LOCK IN YOUR LOW FARE!

With rates being subject to change between now and the time of the meeting, we urge you to purchase your airline tickets without delay, using your credit card. This will guarantee your reservation and the current airfare, and protect you against later fare increases. Since some restrictions apply, we advise you to call early in order to receive the greatest discount available! Your airfare is guaranteed when your ticket is written.

MICA, INC. Toll-Free Nationwide Number: 1-800-826-6011 or 1-800-888-6422

PLENARY SESSIONS

All attending the Annual Meeting are cordially invited to attend the program events listed in this book. Those designated as Plenary Sessions, General Sessions and Special Sessions are addressing topics that cut across fields and offer resources for many of us. Further, the Academy has arranged for films and a musical event at times following each night's plenary event.

Saturday, December 5

8:30 PM

M-Salon F

Dr. William Graham is a professor at Harvard University. His topic on this occasion will be a comparative examination of sacred writing or scripture in religious traditions. He is the author of Beyond the Written Word: Oral Aspects of Scripture in the History of Religion (Cambridge) and Divine Word and Prophetic Word in Early Islam (Mouton). The topic bridges the technical issues of specialists of various kinds and engages comparative interests of diverse sorts.

Sunday, December 6

8:00 PM

M-Salon F

Dr. Gerda Lerner, Robinson Edwards Professor of History at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, is a celebrated historian—past president of the Organization of American Historians—and a renowned scholar in women's studies. In her lecture she will address a topic of profound importance in religion, namely, patriarchy. Dr. Lerner has most recently published The Creation of Patriarchy (Oxford, 1986) and among her previous works are The Female Experience: An American Documentary (Bobbs-Merrill) and The Majority Finds Its Past: Placing Women in History (Oxford).

Monday, December 7

8:00 PM

M-Salon E

Dr. John Dillenberger, President of the American Academy of Religion for 1987, is Professor Emeritus of the Graduate Theological Union. He is indefatigable in his work on behalf of the AAR. His career is remarkable in the success he has achieved as an administrator, including presidencies of the Hartford Seminary and the Graduate Theological Union, while remaining an active and productive scholar. His turn in the last decade to publishing his studies in religion and the visual arts has given us A Theology of Artistic Expression (Crossroad), along with others. In his earlier years he published numerous works as a historical theologian: Contours of Faith (Abingdon) and Protestant Christianity with Claude Welch (Scribners).

AAR ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

The AAR Annual Business Meeting will be held Monday, December 7, at 6:30 PM in the Marriott, Salons A, B, & C. Dr. John Dillenberger, Graduate Theological Union Emeritus, will preside.

The Annual Business Meeting of the AAR will hear regular reports of Board of Directors, President and Executive Director. In addition, a series of bylaws revisions will be voted on. Dr. John Dillenberger and Dr. James Wiggins will conduct open discussions of these proposals at 7:30 AM on Sunday and Monday.

In addition to the items on the agenda, members of the AAR may present new topics, provided the intention to do so is submitted to Dr. Dillenberger and/or Dr. Wiggins by 6:30 PM on Sunday, December 6. Such proposed additions must take the form of a recommendation or resolution to one of the standing committees of the AAR.

ROUND TABLE SESSIONS

The Round Table Sessions will take place on Monday, December 7, from 11:30 AM–12:45 PM in the Marriott, Salon F. Participation will be limited to 10 people for each session. To reserve a place at the session of your choice, fill out the Round Table Session form in the front of this program book and return to Scholars Press. Seats will be assigned on a first come, first served basis. There will be no charge for attendance.

Those who do not reserve space at a Round Table Session prior to the meeting can check at the Marriott AAR/SBL Information Desk to reserve available space. Round Table registrants can also pick up copies of papers to be discussed at their session at the Information Desk (please see A112 for a complete listing of topics).

SBL SPECIAL SESSIONS

These sessions are highlighted for your convenience. In addition to the special sessions that occur annually, such as the Presidential Address and several series, please make note of the other special program sessions listed here.

7:15-8:15 PM

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS

M-Salon A-E

Saturday, December 5

The Ethics of Interpretation: Decentering Biblical Scholarship

Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza
Episcopal Divinity School

Presiding:

Philip J. King, Boston College

This annual lecture gives us an opportunity to hear and honor one of our colleagues. Professor Schüssler Fiorenza has contributed significant scholarly New Testament work through the publication of diverse monographs and articles. Several of her recent works continue to provide a context for lively conversation within the discipline. She has encouraged us to reflect more adequately on the ways we do our work and its ever-expanding implications.

8:15-10:15 PM

BIBLICAL SCHOLARSHIP IN THE 21ST CENTURY SERIES

M-Salon A-E

Saturday, December 5

Phyllis Tribble
Union Theological Seminary, New York

Miriam, Moses, and a Mess

Presiding:

Katharine Doob Sakenfeld, Princeton Theological Seminary

Respondent:

John S. Kselman, Weston School of Theology

This series is a part of the SOCIETY'S effort to examine retrospectively and prospectively the status of the discipline. It introduces through diverse formats an investigation of the issues before biblical studies.

The previous year's topics and leaders were:

1986 Canonical Gospels and Apocryphal Acts of the Apostles

Francois Bovon

The Cross That Spoke: The Earliest Narrative of the Passion and Resurrection in the "Gospel of Peter"

John Dominic Crossan

Presiding:

Bernadette J. Brooten, Harvard Divinity School

Respondents: Karen L. King, Occidental College

Dennis R. MacDonald, Iliff School of Theology

This program series provides a forum for retrospective and prospective reflections on the accomplishments of active scholars in biblical studies. Professor Schottroff has contributed to a wide variety of New Testament topics, including gender studies, ethical implications of the New Testament and background studies. She brings both scholarly research and an interest in interpreting her work to the non-specialist. The scholars who have participated in this lecture series are among the most important to stimulate and shape our discipline. The previous scholars presenting lectures in this series were:

1985 James M. Robinson • 1984 Jacob Neusner • 1983 Frank Moore Cross, Jr. • 1982 Raymond E. Brown

Monday, December 7

Africa and the Bible

Robert A. Bennett

Episcopal Divinity School

Presiding:

Charles B. Copher, Interdenominational Theological Center

This year, one lecture discussion is offered. Opportunity will exist for reflection and conversation led by a specialist in the area under consideration.

The massive geographical and cultural area we call Africa has influenced many biblical traditions. Professor Bennett will share his work on these traditions and the frontiers of research opportunities in the discipline.

Previous years' lecture discussion topics and leaders were:

1986 Reshaping Research Habits: The Role of the Computer in the Function of Biblical Studies
The Interpretation of Hebrew Literature: The History and Literature of the Persian Period

Robert A. Kraft

Peter Ackroyd

and Sara Japhet

Paul J. Achtemeier

THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF RELIGION

The American Academy of Religion, now in its seventy-eighth year, is a comprehensive learned society and professional association of teachers, scholars and researchers in the academic study of religion at all levels of higher education in the United States and Canada, and presently comprises more than 4,600 members. The AAR fosters and supports the scholarly study of religion in higher education principally through research, publications and teaching.

In all its undertakings the AAR represents and articulates the distinction between particular religious convictions and sectarian interests on one hand and the judgments of critical thinkers and scholars whose subject matter is the professional study and understanding of all religious phenomena on the other.

Comprehensive in its purview, the annual meeting of the Academy embraces the full spectrum of the world's religions through fourteen ongoing subdisciplinary program units. An additional thirty-four program units, including seminars, groups and consultations, reflect the high diversification and specialization that characterize the field. Further opportunities for scholarly exchange are extended through the general and plenary sessions and the programs of affiliate societies offered in conjunction with the annual meeting of the AAR/SBL.

In addition to the annual meeting, the AAR is most visible to its members and the larger public through its publication program. The quarterly Journal of the American Academy of Religion provides the most comprehensive scholarly and programmatic work in the field. AAR book publications, over 100 in just ten years, make available critical thought and research within the field. This year the AAR is pleased to announce a new annual publication, The Critical Review of Books in Religion, which is edited by Beverly Roberts Gaventa and co-sponsored with the Society of Biblical Literature. The first issue is expected to be available in 1988. Work also continues on the AAR Encyclopedia of Religion, under the general editorship of Jonathan Z. Smith.

The Academy is a constituent member of the American Council of Learned Societies and the National Humanities Alliance. It is a founder and co-sponsor of Scholars Press, and works co-operatively with the Society of Biblical Literature in sponsoring the Annual Meeting, several regional meetings, the Placement Assistance Service, OPENINGS, Job Opportunities for Scholars of Religion, and Religious Studies News. It is governed by a Board of Directors, assisted by an Executive Director and staff, and carries out much of its responsibilities through standing and special committees. In addition to the Executive Committee, standing committees include Education and the Study of Religion, Research and Scholarship, Publications, Program, Regions, and Long-Range Planning and Development. In 1987 the AAR Board of Directors approved the establishment of a Media Committee jointly sponsored with SBL.

During this annual meeting the four recipients of the first Excellence in Book Publications awards will be honored at a program session devoted to critical discussions of their works. These include Wayne Meeks, The First Urban Christians, John Van Seters, In Search of History, Wayne Proudfoot, Religious Experience, and Merold Westphal, God, Guilt and Death.

In 1986 the AAR awarded nine Research Assistance Grants to scholars engaged in a variety of research projects ranging from translations of Buddhist texts to critical investigations of Mircea Eliade's work. Awards will be made to successful applicants among Academy members for 1987-88. Information regarding applications is published in RSN.

The American Academy of Religion seeks and welcomes suggestions by its members for ways to improve and strengthen its services and its support for the field as a whole.

Administrative Assistant
Executive Associate

The working of the Academy as a learned society and professional association requires the commitment and attention of a group of persons who give of their energy and time in ways that are least obvious to an observer precisely when they are most successfully executed. The efficiency and effectiveness of these three talented and dedicated individuals is impressive when considered one by one. Even more impressive is the cohesiveness and creativity they have achieved as a team. The AAR is fortunate in the quality and abilities of its full-time administrative staff.

As the AAR grows and expands its arenas of activity, the responsibilities of the staff increase accordingly:

Julia Ferri performs a variety of important secretarial functions including devising office procedures and sections of the operations manual. She produces professional reports, agendas, memoranda and other documents that assist communications within the Academy, creates and maintains various databases and an extensive file system for the work of the Academy.

Janet Goss, whose administrative skills enable the office to operate efficiently, productively and calmly, serves as liaison with staff at Scholars Press, the Society of Biblical Literature and the AAR's members, vendors, and guests, as well as the public at large. Her wide-ranging duties include maintaining financial records, assembling program copy, arranging Board, committee and other meetings during the year, and assisting in the preparation of reports and correspondence.

Barbara Yoshioka is actively engaged in funding efforts on behalf of many of the projects recently begun. She is liaison with the regional officers and regularly attends regional meetings. She actively facilitates the work of the standing committees and their projects, as well as numerous special projects of members and groups within the Academy. Her responsibilities also include work with AAR joint projects and services involving Scholars Press and the Society of Biblical Literature, as well as other organizations with which AAR is affiliated. Her analytical skills and energy have significantly enhanced the operations of the staff and its contribution to the general workings of the AAR, especially through the committees, the Board of Directors and related organizations.

The Executive Office staff works extensively with Scholars Press personnel and AAR/SBL staff at the Press in areas of annual meeting management, publications, membership and subscription services, the Placement Assistance Service, and accounting and bookkeeping services. We thank Dr. Conrad Cherry, Director of Scholars Press, and its staff for contributing to the high level of co-operation between our two organizations.

The American Academy of Religion can hope to implement its vision—that its undertakings in all arenas will be of the highest order and quality—only because of dedicated, voluntary leadership. The strength of the Academy resides in its members whose time, energy, imagination and work in many capacities enable the Academy to better serve those in the academic study of religion. To the officers, editors, authors, independent scholars, committee chairs and members, program unit chairs and participants, the institutions that support individual scholars and Academy functions, and colleagues and friends inside and outside the field, we express our deep appreciation.

ACADEMY OFFICERS

The Academy expresses its thanks to all of its members who serve in national and regional positions. Without the voluntary time and energy expended by these persons there would be no annual meeting program, no regional programs, nor publications. The Academy's vitality and energy in setting and executing its agenda will depend in the future even more on the commitment of those who exercise leadership.

NEW PROGRAM UNIT PROPOSALS for the American Academy of Religion

The AAR accepts program unit proposals from any of its members. The proposals are evaluated by the Program Committee and approved or rejected by that body. In response to many requests for guidance in preparing proposals received in the national office, the statement below was formulated.

So You Want to Establish a New Program Unit for the AAR?

There are four authorized types of program units: sections, groups, seminars and consultations. Each exists for specific purposes and differs from the other three.

SECTIONS: These units are the most inclusive type of program unit. They are aimed at reflecting the major, continuing areas of academic interest of the members of the Academy. They address the continuing agenda imposed by the various subfields in the field of the study of religion. These units carry the greatest presumption of programmatic continuation, once they are established. Because these are allotted the most sessions and time at an annual meeting and because the arrangements and responsibilities are the most inclusive, leadership in a section requires a very great commitment. The Program Committee screens all petitions to establish new sections with great care, and it rigorously reviews each section as it approaches the conclusion of its term.

GROUPS: These units are established to encourage the exploration of an emergent area of study or methodology, to cultivate the relation between the study of religion and a cognate discipline, or to pursue a long range and broad research project. More focused than SECTIONS and less restricted in participation than SEMINARS, GROUPS are expected to maintain some communication with their members between annual meetings and to experiment with the format of sessions at the Annual Meeting. A chief characteristic of a meeting of a GROUP shall be that it is a working session and that it shall be obviously connected with preceding and subsequent sessions through the foci of such sessions.

SEMINARS: These units are established to permit a limited number of participants to engage in very well defined research topics or projects. They are expected to eventuate in publication(s). They have a strictly limited duration (never more than five years) and are limited initially to no more than twenty (20) participants who agree to continue actively the work of the seminar between Annual Meetings through correspondence, exchange of papers, bibliographies, and occasional meetings.

The session at the Annual Meeting allocated to a seminar shall be devoted to consideration of previously distributed papers and no new papers will be presented at this session.

CONSULTATIONS: These units are decidedly exploratory opportunities to test the degree and breadth of interest in the membership of the Academy in areas and topics of academic interest not then included in the concerns of existing SECTIONS, GROUPS or SEMINARS. This is the most frequently utilized initial form of a program unit en route to establishing a longer-term unit. The session at an Annual Meeting allocated to a CONSULTATION is open to all interested registrants at an Annual Meeting. Renewable for a second year upon the recommendation of the chairperson of the CONSULTATION, with the concurrence of the Chairperson of the Program Committee, the experience of a CONSULTATION may be the basis for subsequently authorizing a SECTION, a GROUP or a SEMINAR. Rarely will the Program Committee authorize the establishment of one of the other types of units without the evidence provided by two successful years of the work of a CONSULTATION.

With these distinctions in mind, anyone petitioning to establish a new program unit must submit the following information to the office of the Executive Director of the AAR well in advance of the regular meeting of the Program Committee, which usually occurs within two weeks after the preceding annual meeting.

1. Type and name of proposed unit;
2. Projection of the themes or topics which would be included in the first year of the unit's existence;
3. If a SEMINAR is proposed, a projection of the publication aspirations of the unit and a schedule of such publication plans;
4. If a GROUP or SEMINAR, a list of the names of members who are committed to participation therein;
5. A rationale statement which argues for the importance of the subject to be addressed by the unit;
6. The names of an appropriate number of persons who are willing to accept leadership responsibilities for the unit as members of its steering committee. It is assumed that, except in rare circumstances, the person(s) submitting the petition are thereby indicating a willingness to be designated as the Chairperson(s) of the new unit.
7. Twelve (12) copies of these materials must be submitted. The mailing address is Syracuse University, 501 Hall of Languages, Syracuse, NY 13244-1170.

SOCIETY OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE

The object of the SOCIETY is to stimulate the critical investigation of the classical biblical literatures, together with other related literatures by the exchange of scholarly research both in published form and in public forum. The SOCIETY endeavors to support those disciplines and subdisciplines pertinent to the illumination of the literatures and religions of the ancient Near Eastern and Mediterranean regions, such as the study of ancient languages, textual criticism, history, and archaeology.

The publications of the SOCIETY include works for the specialist and non-specialist. The numerous series published through Scholars Press provide opportunities for all scholars to share their research. The Dissertation Series opens for the younger scholar the possibility of placing before colleagues a beginning publication. Works such as the Harper's Bible Dictionary have signaled the importance of communication with the non-specialist. The Journal of Biblical Literature and Semeia represent significant forums for journalistic communication.

The SOCIETY works cooperatively with related organizations. The continuing cooperation with the American Academy of Religion has enabled both organizations to better provide services to all persons within the academic study of religion. Our mutual work with job opportunities through placement at the Annual Meeting and Openings, the joint distribution of Religious Studies News, and the Annual Meeting itself, represents visible signs of the numerous connections we continue to foster. We cooperate with numerous affiliated organizations, such as the American Schools of Oriental Research (ASOR), National Association of Professors of Hebrew (NAPH), International Organization of Septuagint and Cognate Studies (IOSCS), and International Organization of Masoretic Studies (IOMS). A variety of cooperative activities both at a regional and international level help us better understand the breadth of our responsibilities. Our association with the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS) extends our participation to neighboring humanities disciplines.

The Executive Office address is:

Society of Biblical Literature
on the Campus of Emory University
P.O. Box 1608
Decatur, GA 30031-1608

APPRECIATION

The SOCIETY thanks its numerous officers, committees, editors, program unit chairs, and regional officers for their hours of volunteer support. Our organization depends upon you for your generosity of time and resources.

The SOCIETY thanks its staff, Carol Jean Johnson and Sandra Smith, for their care and concern about even the smallest detail.

The SOCIETY thanks Conrad Cherry and the staff of Scholars Press for their work. We wish Dr. Cherry well as he prepares to set out in a new direction.

The SOCIETY thanks the institutions from which so many of our members come. We depend upon these diverse schools and organizations for allowing many of you to devote time for us.

The Society wishes each of you a successful Annual Meeting and a productive New Year.

GUIDELINES

for Program Unit Proposals, Changes, and Reviews

Society of Biblical Literature

Annual Meeting program proposals or changes in existing program units must be submitted by 15 September of the year preceding the first meeting. Send all proposals to

Carol Jean Johnson
Assistant Executive Director
Society of Biblical Literature
P.O. Box 1608
Decatur, GA 30031-1608

Definitions of Program Units

Sections are established to reflect the major continuing areas of academic interests. Format may vary. Papers may be volunteered or invited. Attendance at session meetings is open to any member. Sections are normally authorized for a six-year term and a chairperson is appointed for a three-year term.

Groups are established to explore an emergent area of study/methodology, to cultivate a related discipline, or to pursue a long-range research project. These are more narrowly focused than Sections. Innovative formats for sessions are encouraged. Attendance at working sessions is primarily for active Group participants. Observers may attend sessions on a space available basis. Groups are normally authorized for a five-year term and a chairperson for a coinciding term.

Seminars are established around well-defined research topics/projects and with specific publication plans. Papers are normally discussed and not read at working sessions. Seminars are normally authorized for a five-year term and a chairperson for a coinciding term.

Consultations are established to explore program interests not covered in other program units. Format may vary. Attendance is open to any member. Consultations are normally authorized for a two-year term and chairperson for a coinciding term. Most program units start as Consultations and then shift to some continuing format.

Proposals

These should include the following:

1. Type of program unit and proposed name.

2. Definition of the program unit, along with tentative program projections; reasons for such a unit (when appropriate careful differentiation from existing program units); and specific plans for the initial year.
3. Names, addresses, and phone numbers of a steering committee consisting of approximately three SBL members.
4. Commitment of a proposed chairperson who will serve as the liaison with the Program Committee; coordinate the unit's annual program; and keep appropriate records.

The Program Committee approves/rejects all proposals, which will be reviewed on a timely basis.

Changes and Reviews

All program units are required to review their work in the final year of their term. If no change or renewal is requested, then the review is due eight (8) weeks after the last Annual Meeting in which the program unit has participated.

Changes and renewals must be submitted by 15 September prior to the last year of a program unit's term. This enables the program unit to proceed without interruption. Reviews, changes, and renewals should include the following:

1. List and/or summary of specific programs for the program unit over the duration of the current term.
2. Assessment of specific programs. If a change or renewal is suggested, then the rationale must be developed. If the program unit is concluding, then the review may indicate ways to follow up with future program units. Since most program units begin as Consultations, the shift to an ongoing program unit should be linked not only to the success or failure of the past consultation, but fully develop the reasons for the specific type of program unit desired.
3. Specific, tentative program topics and participants for a minimum of two years should be indicated in all change or renewal requests.
4. List of steering committee members with their addresses.

GENERAL SESSION

A55A

M-Salon F

*AAR Program Committee
Academic Teaching and Study of Religion Section*

Theme: Religion in the Curriculum

William Scott Green, University of Rochester, Presiding

In July 1987 the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (ASCD), a professional organization of 80,000 educators, issued a report that calls for national action to end the curricular silence on religion in public schools. The report earned extensive national attention and already promises to have an important and constructive impact on the development of teaching materials and curricula in public education. This session is devoted to an assessment of both the recommendations of the report and the more general educational problems they address. The full text of the report appears in the fall issue of the Journal of the American Academy of Religion.

3:45-6:15

All the continuing Sections of the AAR, which are listed on the following pages, are simultaneously meeting in the period 3:45-6:15. The last 30 minutes of each meeting will be reserved for a business meeting of the Section. The chair and the steering committee of the Section and a member of the AAR Program Committee will attend. If you have suggestions (or complaints) regarding the operation of the section to which you feel greatest affinity, take the opportunity to participate. Changes can be effected, if enough want them and if they proceed in orderly ways.

Sections are the most enduring program units of the Academy. By contrast, Consultations last not more than two years, Seminars not more than five, Groups, rarely more than five years. Further, Sections are ordinarily charged to plan up to five sessions at each Annual Meeting. Thus, with the 14 Sections at present, at least 70 sessions (more than half of those planned in toto) are in the hands of Section leaders.

Gratitude is due from the entire membership of the AAR to those who volunteer and conscientiously exercise the responsibility to lead these major program units.

AARDVARK JAZZ ORCHESTRA

A87

9:15

Mark Harvey, Director

This evening's concert by the Aardvark Jazz Orchestra offers music in the spirit of the season dedicated to peace on earth. The program includes contemporary arrangements of traditional tunes such as "Motherless Child" as well as the exploratory "Firewave Suite: A Meditation on the Nuclear Peril," an extended composition by music director Mark Harvey. We invite you to experience the richness of the jazz tradition as interpreted by "one of Boston's most spirited and historically diverse big bands." (The Boston Phoenix)

The Aardvark Jazz Orchestra has performed at colleges, churches, and major performing arts festivals in Boston and beyond since 1973. Appearances have included those at New England Conservatory, MIT, Princeton, Wesleyan, Union Theological Seminary, Saint Peter's Church (NYC), and for First Night, Boston's unique New Year's Eve celebration of the arts. Music director Mark Harvey is Lecturer in Music at MIT and a United Methodist minister. Educated at Syracuse University (A.B.) and Boston University (ThM, PhD in religious studies), he is a Fellow of the Society for the Arts, Religion and Contemporary Culture.

"One of Boston's finest groups . . . Aardvark delivered some of the most magnificent music heard in Boston all year." Boston Herald "Aardvark has become a genuine musical treasure." Boston Globe

FOREST OF BLISS

A88

9:15

M-Yarmouth & Vineyard

A film in color produced and directed by Robert Gardner and Akos Ostor of the Film Study Center, Harvard University. Winner of the Golden Marzocco at the 26th Annual Ethnographic Festival Dei Populi. Without didactic narration, Forest of Bliss captures the sounds and sights of Benares to present an immediate encounter with the life amidst death that surrounds the Great Cremation Ground of India's holiest city. A film which reviews have cited for its "economy and precision, beauty and terror," and its success in coming closer than any other "to the essence of religion, to the interplay of feeling and ritual, consciousness and the unconscious, to the alternating rhythms of horror and tenderness, to the vibrations set in motion by the human recognition of the ultimate." 90 minutes.

Co-producer Ostor will be present at the screening to discuss the film.

This film is presented under the sponsorship of the Religion in South Asia Section.

BLUE VELVET

A89

9:15

M-Orleans & Provincetown

Host: Irena Makarushka, College of the Holy Cross

Blue Velvet is a surrealistic revision of the American Dream. In this film David Lynch, the director of The Elephant Man and Eraserhead, tells the story of the attempt of Jeffrey, a clean-cut college student from a picture-perfect American town, to solve a murder. The murder mystery leads him out of innocence into the seductive netherworld that coexists with the idyllic world of white picket fences. Jeffrey's quest takes him from the teen dreams of Sally, the girl-next-door, to the nightmares of Dorothy, the nightclub singer caught in a world where good and evil are no longer clearly distinguished. Lynch's voyeuristic vision captures the eroticism of these contrary worlds in images that are insidiously familiar and disconcertingly ominous.

This movie is shown under the sponsorship of the Arts, Literature and Religion Section. "Post Modernism in Religion and the Arts" will have been the focus in the session on Saturday, 3:45-6:15 in S-Fairfax B.

ANNOUNCING A NEW REVIEW JOURNAL
IN RELIGION

CRITICAL REVIEW
OF BOOKS IN RELIGION

A 400-500 page hardcover Annual which

--In review articles of 20 pages, will assess scholarly works on a single topic or in a specific field

--In 1,000 word reviews, will evaluate individual books

--In an extensive book list, will call attention to newly published second editions, reprints, translations, and paperback editions

--In a complete author index, will provide the scholar with an indispensable research tool

Editor: Beverly Roberts Gaventa

"It is good to be able to cheer the forthcoming Critical Review of Books in Religion. It promises to be a reference-length, permanent kind of journal-book, one that assures a longer and more vital life for scores of books, one that will stimulate the discourse out of which further research and scholarly inquiry should issue."

--Martin E. Marty, Fairfax M. Cone Distinguished Professor, University of Chicago

"A major step forward in scholarly discourse in the academic study of religion, Critical Review promises us a balanced, comprehensive, and truly professional book review journal for a field marked, until now, by catch-as-catch-can attention to this and that. Critical Review fills a long-recognized gap in the scholarly study of religion in North America and will vastly raise the level of public discussion."

--Jacob Neusner, Ungerleider Distinguished Scholar of Judaic Studies, Brown University

"Critical Review of Books in Religion fills an important gap in the way books in the field of religion are currently reviewed. The expansion of review coverage to multi-author/essay type literature, second editions, reprints, translations and paperback editions will meet an important need. Its case-binding and acid-free paper indicate the publisher's concern for quality publication at a price well within reach of scholars and libraries."

--Albert E. Hurd, Executive Director, Religion Indexes

VENTURES IN COOPERATION BETWEEN THE
AMERICAN ACADEMY OF RELIGION
AND THE
SOCIETY OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE

The cooperation that exists between the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature has grown from the small beginning of a joint annual meeting to one which encompasses publications, research, programs, placement, and communication. This cooperation is best described as people coming together to serve the needs of those in the academic study of religion.

These organizations have diverse yet related histories and purposes. The American Academy of Religion has evolved over a seventy-five year history, and the Society of Biblical Literature was founded in 1880. Both are seated on the American Council of Learned Societies. Both have relationships with other scholarly organizations in the field. Important journal and monographic series are published by both organizations. Both helped found Scholars Press. Membership in both groups includes university and seminary faculty, nonaffiliated persons, and students from virtually every level of and type of degree program in higher education.

The American Academy of Religion includes individuals from all aspects of the study of religion as evidenced from the Journal of the American Academy of Religion and the program units at the Annual Meeting. The long-standing efforts to attend to professional and scholarly concerns continue through initiatives to inventory the field, include attention to the cross-cultural dimensions of studying religion, provide awards for outstanding books, offer research assistance grants, and strengthen publications. These are some of the ways the Academy is providing leadership to the field.

The Society of Biblical Literature seeks to stimulate the critical investigation of the classical biblical literatures, together with other related literatures, by the exchange of scholarly research. The Journal of Biblical Literature and Semeia represent the diverse journalistic activities that are joined with seventeen monographic series. Leadership activities for the field have focused on broadening publications to provide interpretive materials for the nonspecialist, organizing research projects to gain better basic tools, and widening dialogue through an international meeting.

ATLAS OF THE BIBLE

Edited by James B. Pritchard

The best, most authoritative,
and most comprehensive Bible atlas available

CONTENT

- ☐ Relates Bible narrative to the entire history of the ancient Near East. Information based on the very latest research of the world's top archaeologists, historians, epigraphers, architects, geographers, interpreters of ancient texts and geologists.
- ☐ Covers the important background to the times—from the Old Testament, Intertestamental Period, and New Testament through Byzantine Palestine—and includes color spreads on customs, beliefs, and practices, as well as a glimpse into everyday life.

SCHOLARSHIP

- ☐ Produced by a team of fifty distinguished scholars from twelve different countries under the direction of noted scholar James B. Pritchard and the staff of Times Books in London.
- ☐ James B. Pritchard, general editor, was for many years professor of religious thought and curator of biblical archaeology at the University Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Pritchard is best known for two of his books, Ancient Near Eastern Texts Relating to the Old Testament and The Ancient Near East in Pictures Relating to the Old Testament, which are essential resources for all students of the Bible and the ancient Near East.

600 FULL-COLOR MAPS AND ILLUSTRATIONS

- ☐ Designed with the same techniques and glorious color as The Times Atlas of the World. These large maps are complemented by text, photographs, drawings, and diagrams to give a complete picture of the biblical period.
- ☐ Includes reconstructions of important sites such as Jerusalem as Jesus saw it and the splendors of Byzantine ecclesiastical architecture, all created by an archaeological illustrator attached to the Institute of Archaeology of the Hebrew University, Jerusalem.

FEATURES

- ☐ Extensive chronology, biographical details of all personalities involved, and an extensive place-name index listing every place referred to using biblical, Greek, modern Hebrew, and other names.

256 pages; 10¼" × 14¼"; 134 full-color maps; 466 full-color photographs, diagrams, and drawings. $49.95*

COUNCIL OF SOCIETIES FOR THE STUDY OF RELIGION

MERCER UNIVERSITY • MACON, GEORGIA 31207 • (912) 741-2376

The Council of Societies for the Study of Religion is a federation of professional organizations that promotes the academic study of religion. Delegates from the member societies meet annually to review the work of the Council's various committees and to plan its publication program.

Religious Studies Review

Including major reviews, shorter notes, a recap of dissertations in progress and completed, RSR is the single source for bibliographical updates in the broad field of religious studies. "The RSR is noteworthy for its mix of searching essays, critical reviews, and informative notices. Indispensable for those keeping on top of scholarship in the field of religion."

—John F. Wilson, Princeton University.

Bulletin of the CSSR

Publication of the Bulletin was interrupted in April of 1985 (volume 16), but will resume in early 1988 (volume 17). The "new" Bulletin will appear four times a year: January, March, May and November. Its purpose is to serve as a clearinghouse for information about specific activities in the field of religious studies, especially as this information relates to and grows out of the work of the constituent societies. The Bulletin will include news from the various societies of the CSSR (and others who care to submit), general announcements, information on grants, fellowships, etc., program announcements, calendars of events, and directories of officers, both regional and national, of the CSSR constituent societies.

Directory of Faculty

This newest CSSR publication will appear in early 1988 and will include complete biographical listings on those who teach in the area of religious studies in North America. It is designed to be a companion volume to the Directory (mentioned above). All departments and programs of religious studies listed in the Directory are being invited to participate in this project.

about the edwin mellen press

An STM Publisher

The Edwin Mellen Press, founded in 1974, is a specialized publisher of scholarly and scientific books. It fills the niche created as traditional university presses have sought increasingly to publish books of general interest, thereby leaving the task of publishing monographs, bibliographies, and translations to the new STM ("scholarly, technical, medical") publishers like The Edwin Mellen Press.

Forty Continuing Series

The publishing program of The Edwin Mellen Press consciously imitates certain programs of European, especially German, scholarly publishers. For example, it establishes continuing monograph series in specific areas of scholarship and solicits library subscriptions for them. At present, The Edwin Mellen Press sustains over forty such series in virtually all areas of the humanities and social sciences, plus business, archaeology, leisure studies, and health and human services.

Collaborative Research Projects

Conceiving its task to be not merely publication, but also the active promotion of research, The Edwin Mellen Press sponsors several ongoing projects where groups of scholars engage in collaborative research: the Schleiermacher Studies and Translations Project, the Nineteenth Century Music and Music Theory Project, and a project on Scholarly Career Development. It is anticipated that these, and additional, research projects will evolve into a post-doctoral university program leading to the award of the Habilitation degree.

International Offices

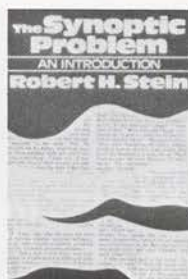

Mellen's main office, where over twenty staff are located, is in Lewiston, New York (an important center of American history and art). In Lewiston, the press occupies several buildings: an editorial office, a center for typesetting and graphic design, a printing shop, a warehouse, and a guest house for visiting authors. In addition to its Lewiston office, The Edwin Mellen Press also has a Canadian division, established three years ago. In 1987, The Edwin Mellen Press will open a European division and, in 1988, a West-African division, based in Nigeria.

"Contribution to Scholarship"

The sole purpose of The Edwin Mellen Press is to promote and publish scholarship—and "contribution to scholarship" is its sole criterion for accepting a manuscript for publication. The press does not support any ideology or scholarly "school." Although The Edwin Mellen Press is an independent, self-sustaining business, operating without any institutional subsidies, it accepts the obligation of public accountability by making its annual financial statements available. We invite your inquiries and hope for the opportunity to become your publisher.

The Young Calvin

Alexandre Ganoczy

Translated by David Foxgrover and Wade Provo

Now available in English, this definitive study by a Roman Catholic priest explores the influences that shaped Calvin's thought down to the first edition of the Institutes. The author examines the tumultuous events that surrounded the young Calvin, the writers that shaped his thought, and the questions of the nature of his conversion, his sense of call, and his views on the unity of the church.

The Christ and the Faiths

Kenneth Cragg

This groundbreaking book by an eminent authority in the field of comparative religions views creatively the relationship of Christianity to four other world religions: Islam, Judaism, Hinduism, and Buddhism. Charles West, Professor of Christian Ethics at Princeton Theological Seminary, calls this work "the crowning achievement of a mature scholar." With chapter notes and indexes.

Co-Creating

A Feminist Vision of Ministry

Lynn N. Rhodes

Drawing on the thought of prominent feminist theologians and practicing clergywomen—and her own experience as minister and educator—the author examines questions of authority, salvation, mission, and vocation in relation to a feminist theology of ministry. Letty M. Russell commends this as a "much-needed contribution to the emerging field of feminist pastoral theology."

Religion and Violence

Second Edition

With a new introduction by the author.

Robert McAfee Brown

Widely used in ethics related courses in colleges and seminaries, Religion and Violence, addresses critical questions of violence and nonviolence. In a new introduction, Brown highlights areas of violence that have become even more prominent since the book first appeared: capital punishment, nuclear weapons, terrorism, disinformation, and revolution.

BAPTIZED INTO WILDERNESS

A Christian Perspective on John Muir

Richard C. Austin

(0869-7) Pb $6.95

Introducing a new, 4-volume series on "Environmental Theology." This first volume explores the life of John Muir, the man who gave voice to the wilderness and challenged the exploitative ethic of the mainstream American culture. A reflective look at Muir's "religious ecstasy" and deep communion with nature. Allows the modern reader to appreciate Muir's dedication to celebrating the physical world that has been so long neglected in most Western and Protestant theology. Ready September.

New books:

A Grammar for Biblical Hebrew

The new definitive text for students in colleges, universities, and seminaries. By Princeton's C.L. Seow, it is the only grammar that consistently provides illustrations from the Hebrew Bible, teaches students use of standard dictionaries, treats every Old Testament book, and consistently explains grammatical forms in terms of historical developments. November, 1987; $21.95, hardcover; 208 pages; ISBN 0-687-15683-1.

Isaiah: The Eighth Century Prophet His Times and His Preaching

John H. Hayes and Stuart A. Irvine—employing the most contemporary scholarship available—offer ten theses on Isaiah that are not commonly shared by other scholars in the field. They argue that all of Isaiah 1-33 is authentic to the prophet and can be related to the historical events of his lifetime. Their text calls into question the methodologies and assumptions of such disciplines as form criticism and reduction history. December, 1987; $13.95, paper; 364 pages; ISBN 0-687-19705-8

Old Testament Apocalyptic

Harvard professor Paul D. Hanson describes the essential characteristics of the apocalyptic writings in the Old Testament, gives a portrait of the social and historical context in which they arose, and their interpretation in relation to the biblical vision of the purposes of a righteous and compassionate God. November, 1987; $9.95, paper; 160 pages; ISBN 0-687-28750-2.

Preaching as a Social Act Theology and Practice

The first complete look at the fascinating relationship between preaching and our modern society. Six articles by leading experts offer new insights into this issue, and show how to make preaching more theologically and ethically responsible. Editor Arthur Van Seters is president of the American Academy of Preaching. February, 1988; $14.95, paper; 208 pages; ISBN 0-687-33827-1.

The Works of John Wesley, Volume 4, Sermons IV, 115-151

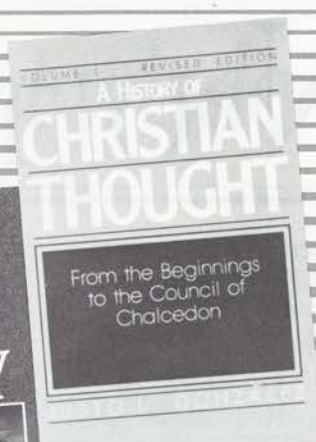

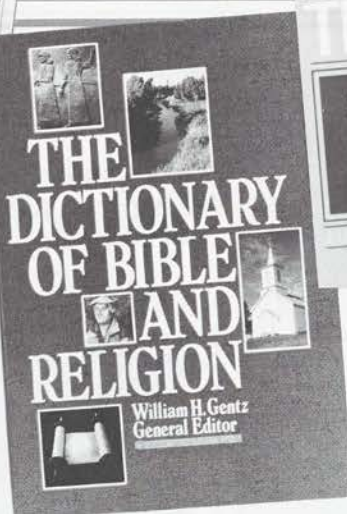

Twenty years of research by the world's foremost Wesleyan scholars has culminated in a definitive collection of Wesley's works--151 sermons that changed the face of Protestantism forever. Abingdon proudly announces publication of the fourth in a series of four sermon volumes edited by Albert C. Outler. November, 1987; $49.95, hard cover; 608 pages; ISBN 0-687-46213-4.

—Charles B. Cousar,

Columbia Theological Seminary

$18.95, hardcover; 352 pages; ISBN 0-687-28751-0.

Ethics:

Systematic Theology, Volume 1

Asserting that ethics rather than doctrine or foundations is the most practical point from which to begin a study of systematic theology, James William McClendon, Jr. explores—from the anabaptist perspective—the nature of ethics • an ethic of sexual love • social ethics • the politics of forgiveness • resurrection ethics • narrative ethics • more.

"This book is an event."

—Stanley Hauerwas,
Duke University

"Ought to be in every theological school and on every bibliography."

—The Christian CENTURY

$22.95, hardcover; 352 pages; ISBN 0-687-12015-2

The Dictionary of Bible and Religion

William H. Gentz, general editor. A major expansion on the concept of the "Bible dictionary," utilizing glossary definitions and essays by twenty-eight of the world's foremost authorities in covering biblical knowledge, contemporary religious information, and the evolution of religious thought.

"Remarkably comprehensive, containing much information that is not likely to be found in any dictionary or encyclopedia."

—The Christian CENTURY

$26.95, hardcover; 1152 pages; ISBN 0-687-10757-1.

A History of Christian Thought, Revised

Sifting through Christianity's momentous people, places, and events, Justo L. Gonzalez provides one of the most authoritative yet accessible odysseys of Christian thought available. He has added a major chapter on the 20th century, eliminated sexist language, and completely updated the bibliography.

"Among the best in its field."

—Journal of the American Academy of Religion

$59.95, three volume set; ISBN 0-687-17185-7.

New translations, ancient wisdom.

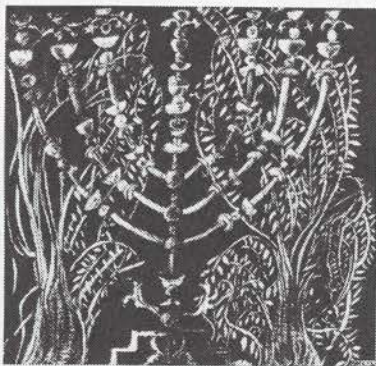

This fresh new translation presents the most comprehensive collection ever assembled of the 46 foundational works of gnosticism, a counterpart to the Holy Scriptures of Christianity and Judaism. These documents are indispensable for anyone who seeks to understand the origins of Christianity and the Church, the nature of classical Judaism and the development of Judeo-Christian cultures. Introductions and annotations by one of America's foremost religious scholars, as well as maps, tables, and a bibliography, help to place these key texts in their proper cultural and historical perspective for every student of scriptural writings. 800 pp., $35.00

BIBLE

HAGGAI,
ZECHARIAH 1-8

A NEW TRANSLATION
WITH
INTRODUCTION AND COMMENTARY BY CAROL L. MEYERS AND ERIC M. MEYERS

This new addition to the acclaimed Anchor Bible series is a historical, linguistic, and social examination of Haggai and the first eight books of Zechariah—scriptural documents written in one of the most critical eras in Israel's history, the return from the Babylonian captivity. These exhortations helped to inspire and support the Israelites in a period of profound turmoil as they sought to rebuild the Temple and re-establish their ethnic and religious traditions in Judah. An introduction and commentary by a distinguished husband-and-wife team of biblical scholars illuminates the artistry, the acumen, and the authority of this Messianic plea for the restoration of Israel; charts, maps, a bibliography, and a glossary provide all the reference material necessary for understanding and appreciating the importance of these fascinating volumes. 576 pp., $20.00

THE WISDOM OF BEN SIRA

A NEW TRANSLATION WITH NOTES BY
PATRICK W. SKEHAN
INTRODUCTION AND COMMENTARY BY
ALEXANDER A. DI LELLA

This key volume of the wisdom literature of ancient Israel provides a unique and intriguing look at the psychology, spirituality, and culture of Jewish society in the second century before Christ. Volume 39 of the Anchor Bible, also known as Ecclesiasticus or Sirach, is an indispensable handbook of moral behavior and code of ethics by Ben Sira, the last of Israel's wise men and of her professional scribes. It covers virtually every topic of behavior, both religious and secular. Patrick Skehan's new and comprehensively annotated translation offers scriptural students vivid and valuable insights into the daily life of the Israelites, amplified by the illuminating Introduction and Commentary of Alexander Di Lella. Charts, indexes, and bibliographies complete this portrait of a people greatly influenced by a remarkable and learned man. 648 pp., $20.00

The New Second Edition of EXPLORING RELIGION

Roger Schmidt,
San Bernardino Valley College

Exploring the human search for the holy or ultimate, Schmidt describes and analyzes religious expression common to all religious traditions. Every chapter in this accessible, topical introduction to the study of religion includes examples from different religious traditions as well as from literature and philosophy. Revisions and additions to the new Second Edition include:

- A new Chapter One that provides a fuller definition of religion and a clearer distinction between the academic and theological study of religion
- A revised Chapter 3 (formerly on religion and magic) that now focuses on the history of religion—its origins and its archaic, tribal, classic, and modern forms (including primal images of women and the sacred)
- A new Chapter 4 on the quest for the holy
- Expanded treatment of religious language within a new Chapter 7, which examines sacred stories and is followed by material on scripture in Chapter 8
- New arrangement of chapters in Part II (focusing on conceptual dimensions) and Part III (examining the performative and social dimensions) that consolidates related topics
- New Chapters 12 and 13 that explore the different varieties of religious experience in particular transformative or mystical experiences
- A new paperback format

HOW TO LIVE WELL: Ethics in the World Religions

Denise L. Carmody and John T. Carmody, both of the University of Tulsa

How do Hindus differ from Jews in their views of social justice? Does "living well" mean the same thing to Moslems as it does to Christians? Many thoughtful questions like these are explored in this historical/comparative introduction to the role of ethics among the religious traditions. Includes a general overview of ethical convictions among the Jews, Christians, Muslims, Hindus, Buddhists, and others; an orientation to each tradition's world view and history; and structured examination of family life, work, social justice, nature, and models of the ethical ideal for each tradition.

*Approximately 250 pages. 6¹/₂ x 9¹/₄. Paperbound.
October 1987.*

JESUS: An Introduction

John T. Carmody and Denise L. Carmody, both of the University of Tulsa

Unlike purely religious, theological, or historical depictions, this intriguing introduction views Jesus in these ways as well as in the context of the New Testament and later Christian doctrines. Jesus: An Introduction compares Jesus with other great religious leaders such as the Buddha, Confucius, and the Prophet Muhammad; examines the historical evolution of post-Biblical Christian doctrine regarding Jesus; looks at important christological issues in the contemporary study of Jesus; and compares the various presentations of Jesus in the books of the New Testament.

*Approximately 200 pages. 6¹/₂ x 9¹/₄. Paperbound.
August 1987.*

New Edition!

THE WAY OF TORAH, Fourth Edition
Jacob Neusner, Brown University

An excellent conceptual framework for the study of Judaism! Offers a unique orientation that defines and interprets the Jewish experience by looking at the interrelationships between a religious way of viewing life and the historical/social situation of the people who hold this view. Includes a new introduction that gives a clear historical overview of the important periods in Jewish history and discusses their significance; new chapters that compare the development of early Christianity with Rabbinic Judaism; and a new concluding chapter that covers modern issues and situations faced by Jews.

Approximately 192 pages. 6½ x 9¼.
Paperbound. September 1987.

New Edition!

THE HOUSE OF ISLAM,
Third Edition
Kenneth Cragg and
R. Marston Speight

This well-balanced introduction to the religious elements of Islamic life has been updated substantially with the assistance of new coauthor R. Marston Speight. Reflects major historical and political developments that affect the Islamic religious tradition as well as recent scholarly thinking. Two new chapters explore the Muslim community. A thoroughly revised final chapter examines crucial questions about current events related to Islam and its future in the modern world.

Approximately 172 pages. 6½ x 9¼.
Paperbound. October 1987.

- American Religious Empiricism
by WILLIAM DEAN

Defends the thesis that American empirical theology, especially that associated with the Chicago School, is a postmodern movement in the sense advocated by the deconstructionists. Shows what unifies the thought, from the idealistic empiricism of Jonathan Edwards, to the pragmatic empiricism of James and Dewey, to the cosmological empiricism of Whitehead, to the socio-historical empiricism of the Chicago School theologians, to the current work of the growing body of process American religious empiricism into a faithful historicism, a continual reinterpretation of the religious past.

- Religion and Radical Empiricism
by NANCY FRANKENBERRY

A challenging account of how and why reflection on religious truth-claims must seek justification of those claims finally in terms of empirical criteria. Weaves together the varieties of empiricism in all its historical forms from Hume to Quine, finding constructive elements of a radically empirical approach to the controversial topic of religious experience.

- Shaiva Devotional Songs of Kashmir: A Translation and Study of Utpaladeva's *Shivastotravali
by CONSTANTINA RHODES BAILLY

Illuminates the spiritual journey and diary of Utpaladeva, one of the masters of the tantric tradition in Kashmir, as he examines the enigmatic relationship between devotion and grace. For more than a thousand years, the hymns of Shivastotravali have been used in worship. These hymns are presented in translation as English verse along with the Sanskrit, a lively introduction, two appendices on special aspects of Kashmir Shaivism, and additional notes.

- Islamic Art and Spirituality
by SEYYED HOSSEIN NASR

Ranging across painting, architecture, calligraphy, literature, music and the plastic arts, Nasr penetrates to the inner dimension of Islam and shows the role art plays in the life of individual Muslims and the community as a whole — the role of inspiring the remembrance and contemplation of God. Traces the creative act to divine grace, which makes possible the crystallization of inner realities in form, space, and time. Takes an especially close look at the Sufi tradition within Islam.

Presents the early Sufis: their ascetic practices; their attitudes toward women and marriage, food and drink, and music and poetry; and their ecstatic experience. A study of men and women overcome by holiness and love of God, but locked in the paradox of loving a God who makes vast demands on them.

Buddhist Psychology
by DAVID J. KALUPAHANA

This book bases Buddhist psychology on a sophisticated and thoroughgoing empiricism. Jamesian psychological concepts are used in order to clarify the Buddhist ideas. The first part of the book outlines the principles of psychology that can be traced to the Buddha himself with detailed comparison to James.
The second part deals with the understanding of these principles by later disciples of Buddha.

substantive introduction sets the historical background.
Essays by eminent Christian theologians explore the significance of the Christ from the perspectives of the Roman Catholic contemplative tradition, modern depth psychology, and liberal Protestantism. Drawing on information previously unavailable in English, distinguished scholars of Buddhism investigate the significance of the Bodhisattva in India, East Asia, and Tibet.

religions. Answers important questions regarding the "rationality" of fundamentalism, its complex link with modernism, the nature of its relationship to a sacred text, and its perspectives on history and knowledge.

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF RELIGION

MIRCEA ELIADE, Editor-in-Chief

"Rare is the reference book with the power to shake its readers from the comfortable complacency of their own views of the world and human experience. Few possess that power as abundantly as the Encyclopedia of Religion."—Wilson Library Bulletin

A reference work of historic importance—the essential source of knowledge about religion in history and in the modern world. Contains 2,750 original articles by 1,400 distinguished contributors.

ISBN 0-02-909480-1 • 16 volumes • $1,100.00

TAOIST RITUAL IN CHINESE SOCIETY AND HISTORY

JOHN LAGERWEY

In this magnificent account, Taoism is presented as a system of religious symbol and action deeply rooted in centuries of Chinese social life. Lagerwey describes in vivid detail the intricacies of Taoist rituals; what Taoist priests have done, and do, as intercessors acting to protect their communities. He ties together 1,700 years of Taoist history by showing exactly what its beliefs and practices mean to its followers.

INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF RELIGIONS

JOACHIM WACH

Edited with an introduction by Joseph M. Kitagawa

Here is the first complete English-language translation of Wach's habilitation thesis on the discipline of the history of religions, Religionswissenschaft. Originally published in Leipzig in 1924, the work stresses the integrity and autonomy of the history of religions, freed from theology and the philosophy of religion, and emphasizes the necessity for both historical and systematic understandings of the world's religions. Religionswissenschaft is regarded as a small classic in its field.

The volume also includes 6 articles by Wach from the 1930 edition of Die Religion in Geschichte und Gegenwart.

ISBN 0-02-933520-2 • 208 pages, cloth • $29.95

ESSAYS IN THE HISTORY OF RELIGIONS

JOACHIM WACH

Edited with an introduction by Joseph M. Kitagawa

This collection consists of 8 articles, some of them previously unpublished, that represent three phases in Wach's thought. The articles are: • Master and Disciple: Two Religio-Sociological Studies • Mahāyāna Buddhism • Wilhelm von Humboldt • Sociology of Religion • Radhakrishnan and the Comparative Study of Religion • Religion in America: the Sociological Approach to Religion and Its Limits • On Teaching History of Religions • On Understanding

SOUTH AMERICAN RELIGIONS

An Orientation to Meaning

LAWRENCE E. SULLIVAN

Lawrence Sullivan brings to order the enormous cultural diversity of South American religions, cutting across different traditions to embrace the full sweep of South American religious beliefs, practices, myths, symbols, rituals, deities, and institutions within a common framework. He examines the religions of an entire continent from four points of view: Beginnings; Cosmology; Anthropology; and the Meaning of the End, focusing on the remarkable diversity of native peoples and their religions, from the Inca, Quechua, and Aymara of the Andes to the Carib, Tupi, and others of the Amazon jungle basin, from highly developed religious systems to scattered records of loosely organized tribes.

"This is an astonishing work—the most important and original oeuvre on religion which I have read..."

TRADITION AND TRANSFORMATION IN CATHOLIC CULTURE

The Priests of Saint Sulpice in the United States from 1791 to the Present

CHRISTOPHER J. KAUFFMAN

This superb work details the history of the Society of Saint Sulpice in America. Founded in France in 1642 by Father Jean-Jacques Olier, the society is—despite its small numbers—well represented in the history of the United States and exerted a great influence on most of the major movements in American Catholic life. The text is divided into three parts: The Sulpicians and the Formation of the American Church, 1789–1850; Americanization in the Immigrant Church, 1850–1911; and From Romanization to the Second Vatican Council, 1911–1967. A prologue discusses the life of Olier and the earliest beginnings of the society in France and an epilogue discusses change and consolidation in the society from 1967 to the present.

Believers Church Bible Commentary Series

Believers church people have always been known for their emphasis on obedience to the simple, literal meaning of the Scripture. Consequently, they do not have a long history of deep historical critical biblical scholarship. This series attempts to be faithful to the Scriptures while also taking seriously the results and tools of current biblical scholarship.

Jesus Christ Our Lord: Christology from a Disciple's Perspective

C. Norman Kraus, writing in the Japanese context, challenges the accretions of orthodoxy from a consistent and rigorous biblical position. One of his most significant contributions is the development of the idea that shame and alienation, rather than guilt, control our interpretation of God's vicarious action on our behalf. Kraus provides a more comprehensive biblical vision of salvation than is typical of traditional Western theologies and delineates a discipleship which is authentic without being legalistic.

THEOLOGY/REFERENCE

New Dictionary of Theology

Over two hundred theologians, biblical scholars and historians from five continents have contributed over 630 articles to this handy and readable topical guide to Christian theology. The articles, many of which are unavailable in other theological dictionaries, are linked by a helpful cross-referencing system and accompanied by concise bibliographies. Biblically grounded, historically informed and evangelical in flavor, the New Dictionary of Theology should find a place on everyone's theological reference shelf. THE EDITORS:

Sinclair B. Ferguson, professor of systematic theology, Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia.
David F. Wright, senior lecturer in church history, New College, Edinburgh.

J. I. Packer, professor of systematic and historical theology, Regent College, Vancouver.

Either/Or: Parts I and II

Søren Kierkegaard

Edited and translated, with introduction and notes, by

Howard V. Hong and Edna H. Hong

Here is the definitive translation of the volume that Kierkegaard viewed as the beginning of his authorship. In two distinct voices, he presents the musings of the young man who represents the "esthetic" view of life and the reflections of Judge William, the mature proponent of the "ethical" life. Kierkegaard is a master stylist who writes with a poetic grace that is beautifully captured in this new edition.

SYNOPSIS GRAECA QUATTUOR EVANGELIORUM.

M.-E. BOISMARD and A. LAMOUILLE, LXXVIII-418 p.
— 2000 BF.

"This Greek synopsis gives the complete text of the four gospels, to provide a clear, precise, practical resource for those who want to make a comparative study of the gospel texts. The standard Greek text adopted is essentially Alexandrian, close to the manuscripts: B, S, C, L. The critical apparatus does not intrude except when the text presents variants from the text of Nestle-Aland."

One of the last releases in the prestigious academic series "Bibliotheca Ephemeridum Theologiarum Lovanien-sium": the new edition of E. MASSAUX "Influence de l'Évangile de saint Matthieu sur la littérature Chrétienne avant saint Irénée" (With new presentation by F. Neirynck and a bibliographical supplement by B. Dehandschutter), xxvii-854 p. With the emergence of the debate on the influence of the gospel of Matthew, Massaux's study with its clear statements and exhaustive text-analyses, is an important instrument for both Classical-Literature and N.T.-Scholars.

CORPUS SCRIPTORUM CHRISTIANORUM ORIENTALIUM, scriptores Arabici, scriptores Armeniaci, scriptores Aethiopici, scriptores Coptici, scriptores Iberici, scriptores Syri, Subsidia. All 485 volumes still available.

In preparation: English translation of Etienne LAMOTTE "Histoire du Bouddhisme Indien". Des Origines à l'ère Saka. xii-862 p.

Announces
The Cultural Factor in Bible Translation

by Ernst R. Wendland

This recent addition to the new UBS Monograph Series examines many of the problems faced by translators and exegetes trying to bridge the span between diverse cultures. The immediate focus is the range of difficulties encountered in two East African languages, with extensive examples from the book of Ruth. But the theoretical framework makes the study instructive for anyone grappling with cross-cultural issues.

NAG HAMMADI, Gnosticism, and Early Christianity

Fourteen Leading Scholars Discuss the Current Issues in Gnostic Studies

Charles W. Hedrick, and Robert Hodgson, Jr., editors

"This important collection of essays comprises the papers of the only major conference on gnosticism to focus exclusively on the relationship between gnosticism and the early church. The book has critical importance as a significant contribution to the pressing task of reconstructing an integrated, holistic, dynamic, socio-theological history of the early church free of anachronism and forced dichotomies. The fine introductory essay of Charles Hedrick makes the volume accessible to the non-specialist...."

The book can be used both as a general introduction to the issues of gnosticism for the non-specialist and as a study volume for the more advanced students and scholars."

NEW TESTAMENT GREEK

A Beginning and Intermediate Grammar

James A. Hewett

"I recently received a copy of [Hewett's] New Testament Greek from Hendrickson Publishers as part of what had seemed an endless quest for a serviceable, introductory grammar. For years, I have been making do by altering the pedagogical order of existing works, supplementing their explanations, and culling examples from the New Testament. [This] grammar, it seems to me undertakes the task of introduction in a manner which makes success likely for teacher and student alike."

WHEN PAST & PRESENT MEET

A Companion to the Study of Christian Thought
Douglas E. Brown

"This book is not a history of doctrine. There are plenty of those on the market. It is, rather, a case for the study of the history of Christian thought—an apology, if you will, showing what this discipline can contribute to Christian growth and ministry. Professor Brown argues with clarity and cogency that the study of doctrine, entered into with maturity, can refresh faith, deepen self-examination, broaden fellowship, enrich the study of the Scriptures, and bring balance to theological reflection."

SPIRIT & GOSPEL IN MARK

M. Robert Mansfield

Although the role of the Spirit in the Gospels of Luke and John has attracted extensive scholarly attention, until now little has been published concerning pneumatology in Mark. With the appearance of this study, Dr. Mansfield has made a significant contribution toward filling that void.

By utilizing a "multi-methodological" approach that draws on the newer methodologies—literary, rhetorical, and reader-response criticisms—as specialized supplements to form and redaction criticisms, Dr. Mansfield provides fresh insights into the structure, the meaning, and the role of the Spirit in Mark.

THE DRAMA OF DECISION Baptism in the New Testament Oscar S. Brooks

Invaluable to anyone who has ever asked the question "what is the significance of baptism?" With clarity and thoroughness Brooks leads the reader through historical antecedents of Christian baptism—the Old Testament, first century Judaism, Qumran, and especially John the Baptist—and demonstrates its Christian distinctiveness. Brooks also investigates the significance of baptism for the Apostle Paul and the early Christian communities, showing how integral baptism was to a confession of faith.

GREEK ENCHIRIDION A Concise Handbook of Grammar for Translation and Exegesis William G. MacDonald

"Enchiridion" literally means "in one's own hand"—thus "handbook" or "manual." No term better suits this concise but thorough handbook of Greek grammar and syntax: a compact summary of grammatical and exegetical "supports" for anyone who has an introductory knowledge of New Testament Greek and is ready to work at translation and exegesis. Thoroughly indexed.

A PAULINE THEOLOGY OF CHARISMATA Siegfried Schatzmann

"Claiming that the traditional theological approach to charismatic endowment has often lacked an adequate exegetical foundation—[Dr. Schatzmann] has, with patience and skill, examined all the pertinent texts in Paul's writings as the solid foundation of his own presentation. He concludes that Christian existence is intrinsically charismatic—as the sovereign Spirit of God endows every congregation with the grace-gifts necessary to enable it to function as the Body of Christ in the community.

A careful study by a reverent scholar... sensitive to the primary issues in the contemporary discussion of the charismatic gifts."

REACHING BEYOND Chapters in the History of Perfectionism

Stanley M. Burgess, editor

Throughout recorded history mankind has attempted to define perfection. This always has been a most perplexing task, almost as difficult as attaining perfection once the term has been defined.

This study of the human perfectionist impulse and its motivations highlights the concept of perfection in primitive man, in both Old and New Testaments, and in a variety of perfectionist individuals and movements throughout Christian history.

TREASURES OLD AND NEW Interpretations of "Spirit-Baptism" in the Charismatic Renewal Movement

H.I. Lederle

Within the modern charismatic movement there is perhaps one touchstone by which charismatic reality is judged: Spirit-Baptism. However, there has never been a consensus regarding precisely what this expression means.

Recognizing the extreme complexity and diversity of the interpretation of Spirit-Baptism within the charismatic movement, Treasures Old and New systematically collects, classifies, and examines the various charismatic models for understanding Spirit-Baptism.

THE KINGDOM OF GOD IN 20TH-CENTURY INTERPRETATION Wendell Willis, Editor

Perhaps no theological issue has generated as much discussion in New Testament scholarship as the "Kingdom of God."

This collection of fourteen essays by leading biblical scholars examines the concept of the kingdom of God in non-Christian literature, analyzes its role in early Christianity, and surveys the contemporary discussion of this issue among such 20th century voices as Albert Schweitzer, Johannes Weiss, Rudolf Bultmann, C.H. Dodd, and George Ladd.

Mortal Fear

Meditations on Death and AIDS

by John Snow

The root of all our anxiety is our fear of death. We seek immunity from death through costly medical attention and billion-dollar defense systems. AIDS reminds us that death is part of our lives as human beings, and John Snow, professor of Pastoral Theology at Episcopal Divinity School, concludes that we can only live fully if we embrace our mortality.

Songs To Her God

Spirituality of Ann Griffiths

by A.M. Allchin

preface by Fredrica Thompson

The rising attention to studies in women's spirituality—Julian of Norwich, Simone Weil, Hildegard of Bingen, Margery Kempe—expands to recover another exciting and eloquent voice: Ann Griffiths of 18th century Wales. A mystic of uncommon power, and fueled by John Wesley's Methodism, Griffiths wrote some of the most moving hymns of our time.

SPEECH AND SOCIETY

The Christian Linguistic Social Philosophy of Eugen Rosenstock-Huessy

by George Allen Morgan

"George Morgan has condensed and clarified in a masterful way the complex philosophy of one of the most profound and difficult, one of the least known but most original and dramatic thinkers of the twentieth century."

Harold Berman

"This is an important and very useful work which, it may be hoped, will make one of the foremost thinkers of this century known to American readers."

Page Smith

"...a spiritual message that addresses itself to the ever-increasing complexity and ever more pressing exigencies of the human drama...."

Marshall T. Meyer

"This is the compact scholarly primer of Rosenstock-Huessy's multifaceted thought that serious scholars have been waiting for. It will undoubtedly remain the standard work on Rosenstock-Huessy for generations of appreciative students."

Harold Stahmer

"Morgan has provided the much-needed introduction to one of the original thinkers of our century."

Walter J. Ong, S.J.

"This book is the one-volume treatment of Rosenstock-Huessy's opus we have needed for so long."

SOUNDINGS

Soundings encourages scholars to challenge the fragmentation of modern intellectual life and to turn the best and most rigorous deliverances of the several academic disciplines toward the sterner discipline of a common good in human affairs. Soundings aims to publish essays that open disciplines to each other, and it looks for readers who sense in such openings some prospect for greater coherence and amplitude in public discourse.

However, our century shows that there are worse things than a fragmented life, chief among them the disguised violence of false unity and forced coherence. Soundings urges upon its authors and readers a happy regard for Whitehead's advice: "Seek simplicity, and distrust it."

Dialogue & Alliance is a quarterly journal of unparalleled importance.

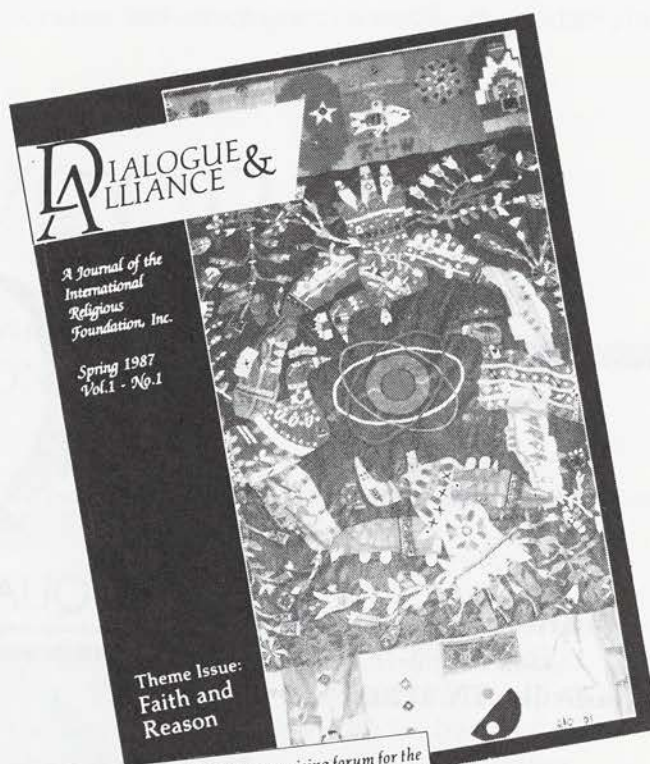

Dialogue & Alliance addresses the complex problem of religious disunity by seeking ideas and projects from the best of all religious traditions.

Dialogue & Alliance emerges out of a living interfaith dialogue, not merely looking toward that possibility. It is rooted in a diverse community of scholars and religious leaders that transcends the confines and boundaries of tradition and education. It provides a living perspective that expands the religious and cultural horizons of readers.

Dialogue & Alliance is dedicated to advancing understanding and harmony among the world's religions. It grows out of the conviction that inter-religious dialogue must be accompanied by a strenuous effort to foster intra-religious dialogue.

Dialogue & Alliance explores religion in all its cultural manifestations—thought, art, practice, and social action.

Dialogue & Alliance is your opportunity to expand your religious horizon.

"DIALOGUE & ALLIANCE is a promising forum for the discussion of ideas relevant to world peace and the thought of the great religions of the world. The policy favors a spirit of tolerance toward the scholarly presentation of all religious ideas and for that alone I recommend it as a new journal that all men and women of good will should cherish and support."

Geddes MacGregor
Professor Emeritus
University of Southern California
Dean of Commonwealth College
Los Angeles, California and author of 29 books

"In a time of increasing tension and divisions among humankind, a journal devoted to dialogue and alliance is much needed. This journal is scholarly in its approach, yet also champions a vision of human solidarity and reveals a global consciousness."

Vigorous New Insights in Theology...from Zondervan

Integrative Theology, Volume 1
Knowing Ultimate Reality: The Living God by Gordon R. Lewis and Bruce A. Demarest

Rather than studying the various theological disciplines in isolation, Integrative Theology brings together historical, biblical, systematic, apologetic, and practical perspectives in a unique methodology. Available, $19.95

Understanding Jesus by Alister E. McGrath

This eminently readable introduction to Christology is, says Michael Green, "a splendid guide through the complexities of these vital doctrines... (giving) the believer a clear reason for the Christian faith." June, $12.95

A Passion for Christ

An Evangelical Christology by Douglas D. Webster
Combining careful theological analysis with reflections on the implications of Christology for the life of the Christian, Webster provides an "eager-hearted, sharp-sighted, well-informed attempt to focus in biblical and contemporary terms what real personal knowledge of the real Jesus amounts to," says J.I. Packer; "a major success." April, $17.95

Five Views On Sanctification

by Melvin E. Dieter, Anthony A. Hoekema, Stanley M. Horton, J. Robertson McQuilkin, John F. Walvoord
Representatives of the Wesleyan, Reformed, Pentecostal, Keswick, and Augustinian-Dispensational positions state their respective views, and respond to each other...finding more in common than might be expected. April, $8.95

Power, Pathology, Paradox

The Dynamics of Evil and Good by Marguerite Shuster

A brilliant and original study that explores the problem of psychopathology in the context of the larger problem of evil. "What a terrific book! A totally honest and fiercely intelligent address to phenomena we all wish would go away but won't."—Lewis B. Smedes. September, $22.95

Symphonic Theology

The Validity of Multiple Perspectives in Theology by Vern S. Poythress
Contending that the reality of God is simply too great to be contained within a single theological perspective, the author develops a "symphonic theology" based on a recognition of multiple perspectives. October, $9.95

Introduction to Christian Doctrine by John Lawson

A concern for practical theological training motivates this textbook in systematic theology. Lawson objectively presents a broad spectrum of Christian traditions including Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, Anglican, Reformed, Wesleyan and others. Available, $15.95

Theological Roots of Pentecostalism

by Donald W. Dayton Foreword by Martin E. Marty
In this careful if sometimes controversial study, Dayton traces the roots of Pentecostalism to Methodism and the 19th century American holiness movement. "A very important statement," says Martin Marty. July, $19.95

A Contemporary Wesleyan Theology

edited by Charles W. Carter, R. Duane Thompson and Charles R. Wilson

The first biblical, systematic and practical Wesleyan theology published in America in 40 years, designed to perpetuate the spiritual insights and biblical scholarship of the Wesleyan movement and to express these values in the context of contemporary thought and life. In two volumes. Available, $46.95 the set

STUDIES IN THE HUMANITIES

Creativity: Lectures by Gregor Sebba

Helen Sebba and Hendrikus Boers, editors

These lectures comprise the essential elements of Gregor Sebba's lifelong study of the mystery of human creativity, expressed in literature, art, philosophy, and the sciences. Presented in the informal, provocative style which made Sebba such an effective teacher, the lectures are enhanced by numerous illustrations from the visual arts. Broadly trained in Europe in the social sciences and intellectual history, Gregor Sebba was Professor in Emory University's Institute of Liberal Arts from 1959 to 1973.

The Assembly of the Gods: The Divine Council in Canaanite and Hebrew Literature

E. Theodore Mullen, Jr.

The Assembly of the Gods focuses on the nature, function, and composition of the heavenly assembly in early Hebrew literature and its parallel references in Canaanite and Phoenician texts. Points of comparison, especially between the roles of 'El and Yahweh in their respective councils, suggest a common cultural origin for the concept of the assembly. The unique Hebrew development of the concept provides excellent background for understanding the Hebrew prophets.

Aserah: Extrabiblical Evidence

Walter A. Maier, III

A detailed accounting of the mythological goddess Aserah and her various representations in diverse cultural and temporal settings. The worship of Aserah extended from Hierapolis to Spain and from the second millennium B.C. to the Christian era. Based on his reading of the ancient materials--the Phoenician History, Ugaritic texts, the myths (in Hittite) of El-Kunirsa, Asertu, and the Storm God--Maier concludes that Aserah was, among other things, the chief wife/consort of the supreme God, a mother/fertility goddess, and a goddess of eroticism. Aserah: Extrabiblical Evidence adds significantly to our understanding of this important feminine image in the history and literature of the ancient Near East.

Tosefta: Structure and Sources

A systematic and detailed analysis of the structure and sources of the Tosefta. Originally published as sections within Professor Neusner's much larger work on the History of the Mishnaic Law of Purities I-XXII (Leiden, 1974-1977), the essays collected in this volume demonstrate both the literary origins of the Tosefta and its three-fold relationship to the Mishnah. The results of Neusner's painstaking research greatly enrich our understanding and appreciation of this Mishnah's first "talmud."

Reading and Believing

A survey and indictment of literalism and gullibility within the Western academy. In this controversial work, Jacob Neusner argues that much contemporary scholarship on ancient Judaism fails to incorporate the historical-critical enterprise of the nineteenth century. As a consequence of this failure, the study of Judaism--even within the academy--has largely remained pre-critical and in the service of faith. The work of ten contemporary scholars is examined and evaluated in detail.

BROWN STUDIES ON JEWS AND THEIR SOCIETIES

The American Jewish Community: Social Science Research and Policy Implications

Calvin Goldscheider

Presents a sociological overview of the American Jewish community in the 1980s, including its patterns of marriage and family life, residence and immigration, education, social class, and life-styles. Based on an assessment of his findings, Goldscheider offers three illustrative policy recommendations for strengthening the American Jewish community. Responses to these recommendations from a dozen rabbis, community leaders, social scientists and historians are recorded in part two of the study. A third and concluding part contains a clarification and response by the author and an afterword by Sheldon Schreter.

God of My Victory: The Ancient Hymn in Habakkuk 3

Theodore Hiebert

Examines the third and final chapter of the book of the prophet Habakkuk in the Hebrew Bible. The study includes a reconstruction of the text, an analysis of the chapter's literary structure, an interpretation of the chapter's meaning in its original setting, and an explanation of how the hymn became part of Habakkuk. The author demonstrates the way a Near Eastern myth of conflict between the storm god and the chaotic sea became the basis of an ancient victory hymn which was added to the Habakkuk corpus by postexilic editors who reinterpreted it to signify God's final victory over Israel's enemies.

Jewish Presence in T.S. Eliot and Franz Kafka

Melvin Wilk

Discerns a "Jewish Presence" in the work of T.S. Eliot and Franz Kafka. For Eliot, Jewish presence is manifested as a consistent anti-Semitism which expresses Eliot's own American background. For Kafka, on the other hand, Jewish presence provides a key to interpreting the religious dimensions of such works as The Trial. Both Eliot and Kafka reacted to the loss of traditional religious belief; their responses to that loss, however, reflect their respective perceptions and use of Jewish presence in their work.

The Literature of Ideas in Egypt, Pt. I

Selection, translation, and introduction
by Louis Awad

Selections from seventeen leading Arabic writers which reflect the intellectual developments of the Arab literary community from 1798 to the early 1950's. Confronted with a range of contradictory political and intellectual movements, the translated excerpts suggest that Egyptian intellectuals gradually discarded the traditional religious view of Arab society and devoted their energies to the cause of secular Egyptian nationalism.

David Anghaght^C, the "Invincible" Philosopher

Avedis K. Sanjian, editor

The fifth/sixth century Armenian Neoplatonist, David Anghaght^C, is recognized as the founder of several branches of Armenian philosophy, particularly logic. His philosophical writings have been studied by generations of Armenian scholars, and during the past several decades have been the focus of intense scholarly attention in Soviet Armenia and elsewhere. The papers presented in this volume make a significant contribution to a better understanding of David's role as a philosopher and of his singular legacy to the cultural and intellectual history of Armenia.

The Magistrates of the Roman Republic: 3 Volumes

T. Robert S. Broughton

The Magistrates of the Roman Republic is an encyclopedic dictionary of Roman foreign and domestic politics during the five centuries of the Republic. Since its appearance it has been a standard work; its constant citation bears witness to its skillful judgment as well as to its utility. There are three appendices: one lists known moneyers, one gives magistrates of uncertain date, and a third provides a supplementary list of senators whose public offices are otherwise unknown.

Volume III: Supplement (1987) reflects research done since the original publication of Volumes I and II in 1952 and incorporates, with extensive revision and expansion, lists of Errata and of Additions and Corrections which were previously bound in revised editions of Volumes I and II. It includes a Concordance and a Bibliography of work published since 1952.

Form and Thought in Herodotus

H. R. Immerwahr

This complete and penetrating analysis of Herodotus' Histories was first published in 1966 and is now reprinted in paper. Immerwahr studies the themes and mechanisms in which Herodotus built up his framework of interlocking stories and argues that throughout the work narrative structure is used to impose a consistent interpretation on the events described.

Culture-Protestantism: German Liberal Theology at the Turn of the Twentieth Century

George Rupp

A succinct study of the dominant trend in German theology during the three decades immediately preceding World War I. Rupp reassesses the liberalism of "Culture-Protestantism" and, in particular, the work of Ernst Troeltsch. Special attention is devoted to the diversity of viewpoints between Ritschl, Harnack, Herrmann, and Troeltsch and the major issues they addressed in common: pluralism, historical methodology, the tension between faith and history, and the essence of Christianity.

Science Serving Faith: Henry Nelson Wieman

Edited by Creighton Peden and Charles Willig

Towards the close of his long and brilliant career as the preeminent spokesperson for empirical theology, Henry Wieman began Science Serving Faith, clearly intending the work as his major statement on Christology. Before putting the manuscript aside, Wieman had a relatively complete draft of chapters of one through eight, and a much less complete draft of chapter nine. Now, more than a decade after his death, Creighton Peden and Charles Willig here present one of Wieman's last and most intriguing theological statements.

Hermeneutics: The Handwritten Manuscripts

By F. D. E. Schleiermacher

Edited by Heinz Kimmerle

Translated by James Duke and Jack Forstman

Based on Heinz Kimmerle's careful transcription of the original handwritten manuscripts (Heidelberg, Carl Winter Verlag, 1959), the present volume includes a full complement of materials on hermeneutics written by Schleiermacher, as well as an illuminating introduction by James Duke. The reprinting of this text, originally published by the AAR in 1977, assures the continuing availability of a watershed document in the history of hermeneutics.

Theism, Atheism, and the Doctrine of the Trinity

W. Waite Willis, Jr.

This volume demonstrates the apologetic usefulness of the Christian doctrine of the Trinity for responding to the challenges of modern atheism as represented by Feuerbach, Camus, Marx, Adorno and Horkheimer. Utilizing materials from Karl Barth and Jurgen Moltmann, the study demonstrates how Trinitarian theology is iconoclastic towards either theism or atheism. As formulated by Willis, a Trinitarian conception of God signifies both God's openness and relevance to the world.

Religion, Ideology, and Heidegger's Concept of Falling

Gregory Tropea

Investigates the fundamental structures of human existence and self-understanding by tracing the ideas of religion and theology, as articulated through Heideggerian constructs, from Anselm to Democratic Capitalism. Complementing the tasks of historical research, Tropea proceeds to examine Heidegger from, as it were, the inside by asking how the Being of beings is found being religious and being ideological. In this way, Tropea's subtle exploration serves as both a work of historical scholarship and an experiment in the utilization of Heidegger's way of thinking on topics as diverse as politics and technology.

Ernst Troeltsch: Systematic Theologian of Radical Historicality

Toshimasa Yasukata

A detailed study and interpretation of Ernst Troeltsch which discerns the "systematic unified thought" of the German theologian's life work. Despite the obvious diversity of Troeltsch's interests and published works, the author concludes that Troeltsch was thoroughly consistent in exploring the possibility of establishing normative values. The wide-ranging significance of Troeltsch's work for the future of theology is suggested in Yasukata's closing remarks.

The Prose Sermons of the Book of Jeremiah: A Redescription of the Correspondence with Deutero- nomistic Literature in Light of Recent Text-Critical Research

Louis Stulman

Since the time of Mowinkel, scholars have generally recognized that the book of Jeremiah contains an editorial layer that has some relationship to the Deuteronomistic history. However, the exact nature of this relationship, including the origin and function of the Deuteronomistic material, is a matter of dispute. By carefully studying the forms the Deuteronomistic material assumed in the Greek versions of Jeremiah, Stulman clarifies both the correspondence between, and the development of, the Deuteronomistic and Jeremiah traditions.

Has the Lord Indeed Spoken Only Through Moses? A Study of the Biblical Portrait of Miriam

Rita J. Burns

This work represents a comprehensive and scholarly study of the Old Testament figure of Miriam. By examining the seven biblical passages in which Miriam appears, Burns successfully portrays the role of this female religious and cultic leader. Miriam, according to the author, authentically mediated God's word to the Israelite community of the wilderness period. This study will be of interest to students of Hebrew Scripture in general and of the subdiscipline "women in the Bible" in particular.

The Mystery of the Kingdom of God

Joel Marcus

This study employs redaction-critical methods in order to discern the purpose and meaning of Mark 4:1-34 within Mark's theology. For each of the parables examined--the parable of the sower, the sayings about the lamp and the bushel, the seed growing secretly, and the parable of the mustard seed--the text receives a structural and redaction-critical analysis as well as a fresh exegesis. A final chapter examines the structure of Mark 4:1-34 as a whole and assesses its importance for the theology of Mark's Gospel.

Sing, O Barren One: A Study in Comparative Midrash

Mary Callaway

This work follows the trajectory of one specific tradition--the story of the barren matriarchs--as it is adapted to, and reinterpreted by, differing contexts and situations. The tradition of the barren matriarchs is especially intriguing, not only because it was used by both Christians and Jews but also because it represents a rare, feminine image in an otherwise patriarchal tradition. In examining the course of this specific tradition, Callaway demonstrates how the process of interpretation in Israel was one of the formative factors in the canonization of the Scriptures.

The Bible and the University: The Messianic Vision of William Rainey Harper

James P. Wind

This book examines the career of a significant but routinely overlooked figure in American religious and intellectual history, William Rainey Harper. The first president of the University of Chicago, Harper was one of a handful of university-builders who helped give American higher education its distinctive character during the late nineteenth century. In addition to being a university builder, however, Harper was a leader of a biblical studies movement which sought to introduce critical biblical scholarship to the American public. Through a variety of institutions and publications, including his own journal, The Biblical World, Harper attempted to make the Sacred Scriptures accessible to Americans who were experiencing all the dislocations of modernity. Harper's many and varied endeavors were integrated and propelled by a sense that he was advancing "missionary work." The nature of that work--its sources, its expressions, and its fate--are the subject of this book.

SBL's New Series-- THE NEW TESTAMENT IN THE GREEK FATHERS

Scholars Press announces the inauguration of a new monograph series from the Society of Biblical Literature: The New Testament in the Greek Fathers. Devoted to a long-neglected area of textual research--the Patristic evidence of the New Testament text--each volume will present and analyze a New Testament text as interpreted by a significant church Father. Although such interpretations are themselves considered significant for the reconstruction of the original text of the New Testament, the ultimate aim of the series is to provide data necessary for a comprehensive assessment of the history of textual transmission.

Didymus the Blind and the Text of the Gospels

Bart D. Ehrman

The Gospel quotations and allusions in the writings of the blind monk Didymus of Alexandria are the subject of this inaugural volume in the SBL-sponsored series The New Testament in the Greek Fathers. Ehrman's painstaking analysis of these recently discovered writings demonstrates the status of the N.T. text in fourth century Alexandria, as well as--more generally--providing evidence for an assessment of the history of textual transmission. In the course of conducting his study, Ehrman offers significant refinements to the methodologies of textual analysis.

Paul and the Irony of Affliction

Karl A. Plank

Paul and the Irony of Affliction looks to the nature of Paul's language as a cue to his theological convictions. Focusing upon the language of affliction in 1 Corinthians 4:9-13, this study analyzes the function of paradox and irony in Paul's rhetoric in order to demonstrate how it meets the apologetic and homiletic demands of his situation. Paradoxical irony, more than a rhetorical tool or strategy, provides the apostle a fundamental lens through which he envisions himself, his audience, and the world of weakness to which God has called them both.

Semeia 36: Early Christian Apocalypticism: Genre and Social Setting

Adela Yarbro Collins, editor

Essays on the definition, content, social setting and function of apocalypse. Continuing the work begun in Semeia 14 (1979), Apocalypse: The Morphology of a Genre, Semeia 36 examines the apocalypses of John and Paul, Isaiah 6-11, and the Shepherd of Hermas, among others, in order to develop a more comprehensive definition and understanding of the genre.

Semeia 37: Social Scientific Criticism of the Hebrew Bible and Its Social World: The Israelite Monarchy

Norman K. Gottwald, editor

Examines the Israelite monarchy from the perspective afforded by anthropological and sociological theory. Environmental, agrarian, social organizational, demographic, and mercantile factors are related to the formation and rise of the ancient monarchy. Collectively, these papers advance an innovative break with the literary and historical methods through which Biblical materials are conventionally approached.

Semeia 38: The Apocryphal Acts of Apostles

Dennis R. MacDonald, editor

Semeia 38 is a collection of essays on the five apocryphal Acts of the Apostles, including the Acts of Paul, the Acts of Peter, the Acts of Andrew, the Acts of John, and the Acts of Thomas.

Written during the second and third centuries, the Apocryphal Acts narrate the adventures, preaching and death of the apostles. The present volume in large part consists of studies presented at the Consultation on the Apocryphal Acts of Apostles held at the 1980 and 1981 annual meetings of the Society of Biblical Literature, with responses by Swiss and French members of l'Association pour l'etude de la litterature apocryphe chretienne.

Semeia 39: Orality, Aurality and Biblical Narrative

Lou H. Silberman, editor

Semeia 39 investigates the consequences of moving from orality and aurality to literacy. Utilizing Werner Kelber's The Oral and Written Gospel as a point of focus and departure, the collected essays examine the effects of different media on communications. Kelber's response to these essays and a commentary from a literary critic outside the field of biblical studies round out this thought-provoking issue.

MEMBERSHIPS

■ American Academy of Religion

The Academy is an inclusive learned society and professional association of teachers, scholars and researchers in the academic study of religion at all levels of higher education. There are no religious conditions of membership, and the organization itself is not advocative, save for the highest academic standards in the teaching and study of religion in human culture. Its purpose is to stimulate scholarship, foster research, and promote learning in the subdisciplines that constitute religious studies as an academic discipline. The AAR maintains an extensive scholarly publishing program, holds regional and national meetings for the exchange of research, and keeps its membership informed of significant opportunities and developments in the field. It holds a seat on the American Council of Learned Societies and works cooperatively with other associations in promoting the academic study of religion. Membership is open to all who share an interest in this field and in supporting the work of the Academy in behalf of the scholarly study of religion. A completed application and dues payment are required. Payment after September 30 is treated as an application to become effective the following January 1. AAR members receive the Journal of the American Academy of Religion (JAAR) quarterly, and Religious Studies News (RSN), which is published five times per year.

■ Society of Biblical Literature

The Society of Biblical Literature, founded in 1880 as the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis, is a non-profit, non-political learned membership society whose purpose is to stimulate the critical investigation of classical biblical literatures, together with other related literatures, by the exchange of scholarly research both in published form and in public forum. The society endeavors to support those disciplines and subdisciplines pertinent to the illumination of the literatures and religions of the ancient Near East and Mediterranean regions, such as the study of ancient languages, textual criticism, history, and archaeology. SBL is a constituent member of the American Council of Learned Societies. Membership in SBL is open to any individual with an interest in the scholarly study of biblical literature; current enrollment includes approximately 5000 members from over 50 countries. SBL members receive the quarterly Journal of Biblical Literature (JBL), Religious Studies News (RSN), a newsletter published five times a year, the annual meeting Program, and announcements about the Society's annual, international, and regional meetings. Current members will receive a complimentary copy of the Membership Directory and the Journal of Biblical Literature Index (covering volumes 61-100, 1942-1981). All members receive discounts on annual meeting registration fees; on books purchased through Scholars Press; and on subscriptions to Semeia, Openings, Job Opportunities for Scholars of Religion; and Critical Review of Books in Religion (a new annual book review). Dues payments received after September 30 are treated as an application to become effective the following January 1.

Members are expected to pay dues indicated, but a graduated structure is necessarily an honor system. Members are entitled to purchase all titles published by the Sponsors of Scholars Press at Member discounts.

American Society of Papyrologists

The American Society of Papyrologists was founded in 1961 to further the study of ancient Greek and Latin papyri and of the materials contained in them. The Society supports and encourages research in the field, the teaching of the discipline, and opportunities for international cooperation by the scholars in the area. Members of the American Society of Papyrologists may acquire membership in the Association Internationale de Papyrologues, which sponsors the triennial International Congresses of Papyrology and subsidizes such scholarly enterprises as the Wörterbuch der griechischen Papyriurkunden and the photographic archives of papyri maintained in Brussels. ASP members receive the quarterly Bulletin of the American Society of Papyrologists.

European members may pay Scholars Press directly (in U.S. dollars) or may deposit the appropriate amount in the postal checking account (Giro) of the ASP in Arnhem, The Netherlands (account no. 3487121).

SP Associate Membership

Associate Membership in the Press is for those who have a nonspecialist's interest in biblical and religious studies, classics, and related topics. Associates are those who wish to learn more about these fields but who do not choose to undertake formal research. As members of Scholars Press, Associates receive announcements of Press publications, information on tours, conferences, institutes, and meetings of interest to members. Associates are entitled to purchase all Scholars Press titles at a discount. They also receive invitations to the annual Associates meeting with access to the meetings of the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature.

American Philological Association

Founded in 1869, the American Philological Association is the principal learned society for classical studies in North America. Its membership is comprised primarily of university and college teachers of classical languages, literature, and history, but the APA welcomes all lovers of philological learning. Its members include many preparatory school teachers as well as classicists from outside the United States and Canada.

The APA provides a wide range of services to its members through its four major divisions. The Education Division coordinates activities concerned with the teaching of classical studies. In conjunction with the Archaeological Institute of America, the Program Division holds an Annual Meeting which affords opportunities for the presentation of papers by members as well as informal communication with others in the field. Through its Publications Division, the APA publishes the annual Transactions, two monograph series, and a textbook series. Its Research Division coordinates projects related to current research in classical studies. The APA also operates a Placement Service for itself and the Archaeological Institute of America. Membership in the APA includes a subscription to the Transactions of the American Philological Association (TAPA) and the quarterly Newsletter, with news of Association activities, reports from Committees, and articles on recent developments in classical studies, for which $.75 of the dues is designated.
