Learning, Teaching, and Researching Biblical Studies: Today and Tomorrow

Saturday, 7:00pm

Grand Ballroom C-SH

David J. A. Clines, University of Sheffield

Vincent C. Wimbush, Union Theological Seminary, Presiding

David J. A. Clines, who was born in Sydney, Australia, and lives in England, is the first President of the Society from outside North America. He holds a B.A. in Greek and Latin from the University of Sydney (1961) and a B.A. and M.A. from the University of Cambridge in Hebrew and Aramaic (1964, 1967). In 1964 he was appointed Assistant Lecturer in Biblical History and Literature at the University of Sheffield; he has spent the whole of his academic career in the same department, now known as the Department of Biblical Studies. He became Professor of Biblical Studies in 1985 and Professor Emeritus on his retirement in 2004. He was President of the Society for Old Testament Study in 1996 and was awarded an honorary Ph.D. by the University of Amsterdam in 2001.

David Clines's research interests are (1) applying to the study of the Bible contemporary methods of literary research, as in his The Theme of the Pentateuch (1978), What Does Eve Do To Help? (1990), and Interested Parties: The Ideology of Writers and Readers of the Hebrew Bible (1995); (2) preparing a new critical dictionary of the ancient Hebrew language that incorporates all the texts of the classical period, including the Dead Sea Scrolls (The Dictionary of Classical Hebrew, six of its eight volumes having appeared; the one volume Concise Dictionary of Classical Hebrew has just been published); (3) commentating on the biblical text, including Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther (1984) and Job (3 vols., 1989, 2006, 2009). From 1976 to 2001 he was a director and publisher of Sheffield Academic Press (formerly JSOT Press) and since 2004 of Sheffield Phoenix Press.

Sessions of Interest

General Interest

Syriac Literature and Interpretations of Sacred Texts (21-132)
Saturday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, MR - Balcony N

This joint session of the Syriac Literature and Interpretations of Sacred Texts Consultation and the Quran and Biblical Literature Section will discuss various comparisons among qur'anic, Syriac, and Byzantine Greek literatures. Topics vary from the development of traditions on Adam and his offspring, motifs of righteousness, common claims to blessing, and homiletic material that functions as a valuable source of commentary.

Bible and Cultural Studies (21-203)
Saturday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, MR - Studio 6

Papers in this joint session of the Bible and Cultural Studies Section and the Children in the Biblical World Section will draw from personal experience in teaching children, historical, literary and psychoanalytic research, Bakhtin's ideas of polyphony and dialogism, socio-religious interpretation, and gender criticism. These various approaches uncover the intriguing way in which interpretation and translation for Children's Bibles carry implications for children's understanding of various issues.

Paul and Politics (21-225)
Saturday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, SH - Napoleon A3

Dieter Georgi was the "god-father" of the Paul and Politics Group and the issues it explores. Stemming from his critical awareness of the religious aspects of the social-political context that New Testament texts addressed, of the political perspective and implications of the texts themselves, and of the political context and agenda of the contemporary interpreters, papers in this session will address the political impact of wisdom theology, elucidate Georgi's contributions to hermeneutics, and examine eschatology and the primary aim of Paul's missionary activity.

Computer Assisted Research (21-313)
Saturday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, SH - Rhythms Ballroom 3

Invited software vendors will showcase their products by demonstrating how their software solves five real-world problems in back-to-back comparisons. Each vendor will have 30 minutes, with the exception of SESB which will have 15 minutes. Invited vendors include Logos Systems, Stuttgart Electronic Study Bible, Bible Works, Accordance, and Olive Tree.

Ideology, Culture, and Translation (21-321)
Saturday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, MR - Studio 7

The theme "Jewish-Christian Difference and the Politics of Translation" assembles a range of topics from psychoanalysis to performance criticism. Papers will discuss "the return to Freud" and his "assimilation" into the Anglo-American social sciences, Augustine on translation as testimony, and assumptions of authority surrounding print media. They will also evaluate the sanctioning actions of the British Empire's chief rabbi in the mid-nineteenth century and suggest that the dancing and playing around the golden calf represent not the act of a "people gone wild" but the actions of a people seeking to come together in collective joy after a crisis of abandonment in the wilderness.

Recovering Female Interpreters of the Bible (21-332)
Saturday, 4:00 PM to 7:00 PM, Studio 4 - MR

This session focuses on historical women and biblical texts from Marcella, the "hard core" Christian grammaticus who questioned Jerome, to Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, who created a new space for herself in writing narrative, space she would not have had if she had stayed within those other modes of discourse whose principles had been laid out exclusively by male scholars. Ann Francis, Catherine McAuley, Hannah Mather Crocker, Sarah Hale, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and Elizabeth Cady Stanton also receive attention for their creativity, brilliance, and commitment to social change.

SBL Members' Reception (21-402)
Saturday, 8:30 PM to 10:00 PM, SH - Grand Ballroom AB

There will be a cash bar available.

SBL Student Members' Reception (21-403)
Saturday, 10:00 PM to 12:00 AM, SH - Lagnaippe

Hosted by the Student Advisory Group. There will be a cash bar available.

Art and Religions of Antiquity (22-104)
Sunday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, SH - Estherwood

As a scholar in the field of classical studies, Eleanor Winsor Leach, Ruth N. Halls Professor of Classical Studies at Indiana University, positions her writing and teaching at the intersection of Roman Literature, material culture, and social history. Professor Leach holds a Ph.D. in English and Latin from Yale University and an A.B. from Bryn Mawr College, having graduated magna cum laude with honors in Latin. After receiving many honors, including a prestigious Guggenheim Fellowship (1976–77) and a N.E.H. Senior Fellowship (1983–84), Prof. Leach joined the American Academy in Rome as Resident Scholar (fall 1983), served as Director of N.E.H. Summer Seminars at American Academy in Rome, received a National Humanities Center Fellowship (1992–93), and served as Visiting Scholar at Wolfson College, Oxford University (1996). Throughout her career, her principal offices include the American Philological Association (Board of Directors and Program committee 1981–84; Vice-President Department of Program 1990–94, President, 2005) and the American Academy in Rome Advisory Council (1978–) and Classical Jury (1980–82). Professor Leach has also written three books: Vergil's Eclogues: Landscapes of Experience (Ithaca, N.Y., 1974); The Rhetoric of Space: Literary and Artistic Representations of Landscape in Republican and Augustan Rome (Princeton, 1988); and The Social Life of Painting in Ancient Rome and on the Bay of Naples (Cambridge University, 2004).

Cross, Resurrection, and Diversity in Earliest Christianity (22-115)

Sunday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, SH 1 - Rhythms Ballroom

A panel of noted scholars will discuss the impact of Elaine Pagel's work The Gnostic Gospels, published three decades ago, and its enduring value for the study of earliest Christianity.

Rome and Religion: A Cross-Disciplinary Dialogue (22-141)

Sunday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, MR - Bacchus Suite

This is the concluding session of a discussion that has happened over a year's time and in three cities: Boston, Rome, and New Orleans. Scholars from various disciplines will continue to explore both theory and method in the study of texts and material culture as they relate to Rome and religion. This discussion has been jointly sponsored by the Society for Ancient Mediterranean Religions and the following SBL program units: Archaeology of Religion in the Roman World; Art and Religions of Antiquity; and Greco-Roman Religions. Read papers from Boston and Rome at http://socamr.wikispaces.com/.

National Film Premiere! Finding God in the City of Angels: Scriptural Communities and Dynamics in Los Angeles (22-230)

Sunday, 1:00 PM to 4:30 PM, SH - Grand Ballroom E

Finding God in the City of Angels is a documentary film directed by award-winning filmmaker Jennifer Jessum and written, produced, and sponsored by the Institute for Signifying Scriptures. Utilizing Los Angeles as case-study, the film explores how communities construct meaning, define boundaries, and maintain identity in the complex social space of the city and how the phenomenon of scriptures should be explored. A special panel session and discussion with audience will follow the film premiere.

Nida Institute for Biblical Scholarship at the American Bible Society (22-232)

Sunday, 1:00 PM to 2:30 PM, MR - La Galerie 5

Philip H. Towner, Dean of the Nida Institute for Biblical Scholarship, will introduce Maria Tymoczko, University of Massachusetts, who will present "Translating the Bible in Circumstances of Asymmetrical Power: The Openness of Texts and the Self-Determination of the Reader." Professor Tymoczko has an international reputation in three fields: translation studies; Celtic medieval literature; and Irish studies, with a specialty in literature in both Irish and English, including James Joyce. She is one of the leading theorists in translation studies, setting new directions for the field.

Marketing Jesus—Competing Views of Jesus in Paul and the Gospels (22-332a)

Sunday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, MR - Napoleon Suite

Join us for this panel discussion among well-known and highly influential scholars, including John Dominic Crossan, Bart Ehrman, Pamela Eisenbaum, and L. Michael White.

New Testament Theology: Status and Prospects (22-403)

Sunday, 7:00 PM to 9:30 PM, MR - Studio 7

As an assemblage of important voices in New Testament theology, Pheme Perkins, James D. G. Dunn, Udo Schnelle, Frank J. Matera, and Donald A. Carson, this session represents broad and diverse constituencies—Catholic and Protestant, evangelical and mainstream—from both sides of the Atlantic. The session is not designed as a panel review of any particular book or set of books but draws from important work presented by Schnelle's Theology of the New Testament (trans. M. Eugene Boring; Baker Academic, 2009), Matera's Theology of the New Testament (Westminster John Knox, 2007), and Dunn's New Testament Theology: An Introduction (Abingdon, 2009).

Book Review: Gary Anderson, Sin: A History (23-211)

Sunday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, MR - Regent

This session discusses Gary A. Anderson's Sin: A History (Yale University Press, 2009), which shows how changing conceptions of sin and forgiveness lay at the very heart of the biblical tradition. Spanning nearly two thousand years, the book brilliantly demonstrates how sin, once conceived of as a physical burden, becomes, over time, eclipsed by economic metaphors—a transformation that eventually led to the development of various penitential disciplines, deeds of charity, and even papal indulgences. Reviewers have identified Sin: A History as "a new approach to biblical theology" and "an extraordinary piece of detective work."

Site-Specific: New Orleans

Society for the Arts in Religious and Theological Studies (SARTS) (21-131)

Saturday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, MR 3 - La Galerie

Curator of Tulane University's Hogan Jazz Archive Bruce Raeburn discusses "Brass Band Funerals and 'Second Line' Parades

as a Means of Exploring the Spiritual Dimensions of New Orleans Jazz and the Interface with Religious Observance." Raeburn earned his doctorate in Cultural History from Tulane in 1991. He is fascinated by New Orleans jazz because it encompasses all facets of American history: race, class, gender, age, ethnicity. Jazz emerged in a time of segregation, he points out, and it acted as an antidote because musicians cut across the color line and worked together to make great music. The Hogan Jazz Archive, housed on the third floor of Jones Hall, is a resource for researchers from all over the world. Its treasures include 2,000 reels of oral history interviews, 50,000 titles of sheet music, albums, photographs, phonographs and musicians' memorabilia.

Lament in Sacred Texts and Cultures (21-221)
Saturday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, SH - Waterbury

This dialogue between biblical scholars and poets focuses on lament and Katrina. The destruction of New Orleans in 2005 was an event of biblical scale: the thorough destruction of a city and the dispersion of its people. The session reflects on responses to such destruction, ending with remarks on how personal experience of such an event both informs and constrains the author's work as a biblical scholar, including a discussion of why poetry has a capacity for deep lament but scholarship does not.

African-American Biblical Hermeneutics (21-303)
Saturday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, SH - Napoleon A3

The papers in this session contrast and compare exilic experiences in scripture, New Orleans, and literature, pre and post-Katrina, in various texts (Psalms, Paul's letters) and from various perspectives (womanist, cultural hermeneutics).

Bible and American Popular Culture (21-305)
Saturday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, MR - Studio 6

If ever there were a city that would be defined by and known internationally for its music, it would be New Orleans. This session highlights the rich musical heritage of New Orleans in relation to the Bible and popular music.

National Association of Professors of Hebrew (22-131)
Sunday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, SH - Gallier AB

Join us for a panel discussion that we have themed "Tikkun 'Olam: Responding to Natural Evil from Genesis 6 to Katrina and the Aftermath."

Bible and Cultural Studies (22-304)
Sunday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, SH - Grand Ballroom C

Theme: New Orleans and Flood Narratives: A Screening and Discussion of the Film Trouble the Water (Zeitgeist Films)

Winner of the Grand Jury Prize at the 2008 Sundance Film Festival, this documentary is at once horrifying and exhilarating. Directed and produced by Fahrenheit 9/11 and Bowling for Columbine producers Tia Lessin and Carl Deal, Trouble the Water weaves an insider's view of Katrina with a mix of verité and in-your-face filmmaking, producing a redemptive tale of self-described street hustlers who become heroes—two unforgettable people who survive the storm and then seize a chance for a new beginning.

Book of Psalms (22-307)
Sunday, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM, MR - La Galerie 6

Biblical scholars have shown increasing interest in the topic of creation in recent years. This session explores the theological and liturgical implications of creation in the Psalms, as well as the new force of such considerations in light of recent natural disasters involving inundations, including Hurricane Katrina.

Women in the Biblical World (24-127)
Tuesday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, SH - Southdown Room

Papers in this session discuss the contribution of ordinary women to the process of Christian origins and the rehabilitation of the memory of women leaders in the history of early Christianity, as well as the shrine of Our Lady of Prompt Succor, which now resides on the campus of Ursuline Academy on State Street in New Orleans. Our Lady of Prompt Succor is now the patron saint of the City of New Orleans and the State of Louisiana, and, in the midst of the wreckage of Katrina and the following flood, prayers continue to be offered to hasten city's recovery.

Professional Development

Publishing Workshop (20-202b)
Friday, 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM, MR - Balcony N

A successful academic career requires publishing original works of scholarship. Original is not all that counts. The workshop introduces the twin pillars of the academic career. First, it surveys the essentials of academic publishing by exploring the basic elements of a book contract, copyright law, and responsibilities of an author and a publisher. Second, the workshop evaluates the characteristics of typical scholarly writing and shows how writing well can enhance your odds of being heard in the white noise of academia. Anyone wanting to learn more about writing, editing, and publishing will find this workshop useful. The fee includes the four hour workshop, course materials, and a copy of the SBL Handbook of Style. Register for the workshop when you register for the meeting. If you have already registered for the meeting, please contact Theresa Stowe at 404-727-2338 or theresa.stowe@sbl-site.org.

Careers outside the Classroom (21-208)

Saturday 1:00 PM to 2:30 PM, SH - Napoleon B3

Hosted by the SBL Student Advisory Group, this panel will share about opportunities outside the classroom. Join these nonprofit staffers, publishers, and others in nonacademic jobs to discuss your future.

Threading the Tenure Needle (21-236)

Saturday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, SH - Rhythms Ballroom 3

Women make up more than half of those people enrolled in graduate programs but only 38 percent of those tenured. To explore how we can address this unbalanced representation, join us for an interview with current and previous chairs, deans, and professors about the requirements and processes for tenure at their institutions and sage advice they have for junior professors in tenure-track positions. Hosted by the Committee on the Status of Women in the Profession.

Getting Involved in the Society (21-318)

Saturday, 4:00 PM to 5:30 PM, SH - Napoleon B1

Hosted by the Student Advisory Group

Participation in flagship professional organizations is essential in every academic field. This group of seasoned Society veterans is here to help you plug-in to SBL in order to energize your career and professional interests.

Publishing in Journals (22-136)

Sunday, 9:00 AM to 10:30 AM, SH - Napoleon B1

Hosted by the SBL Student Advisory Group

Journal articles are the staple of any curriculum vitae and contribute significantly to the tenure-review process. While each journal is different in terms of style, nuance, and scope, come learn about the essential pieces your article must have in order to be published.

Academic Teaching and Biblical Studies (22-201)

Sunday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, MR - Studio 9

The proliferation of media technologies and global communities of learners and teachers is challenging the traditional education environment. Distance learning—the theme of this session—is a key piece of this complex pie, as are programs such as Skype, WebAssign, Blackboard, and Sakai and social networking applications such as FaceBook and Twitter. Join us as we discuss how to teach traditional topics in a non-traditional format.

Success in the First Five Years on the Job (22-346)

Sunday, 4:00 PM to 5:30 PM, MR - Studio 2

The SBL Student Advisory Group has surveyed a number of early-career faculty and assembled a panel of wise mentors. We will share advice about best practices and things to avoid and take questions about your first years on the job.

Academic Teaching and Biblical Studies (23-103)

Monday, 9:00 AM to 11:30 AM, MR - Studio 3

The Academic Teaching and Biblical Studies Section and the Wabash Center for Teaching and Learning in Theology and Religion have organized a panel discussion about distance learning to address this pertinent topic.

Service-Learning and Biblical Studies (23-146)

Monday, 9:00 AM to 10:30 AM, SH - Maurepas

This roundtable discussion will allot time for participants to share their Service-Learning projects. Please bring syllabi or project guidelines to share with the workshop.

Things I Wish I Knew about a Ph.D. (23-149)

Monday, 9:00 AM to 10:30 AM, SH - Bayside A

Hosted by the SBL Student Advisory Group, this session demystifies the often enigmatic Ph.D. process. Panelists will share from their own experiences about what they wish they had known before entering the fray.

Best Practices in Teaching Workshop (23-202)

Monday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, MR - Studio 9

This session will discuss the use of artefactual resources to aid in Greek language learning, what is necessary to develop the skill of excellent exam writing practices, and using software to facilitate biblical language learning.

Masoretic Studies (Affiliated with IOMS) (23-226)

Monday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, MR - Studio 4

This workshop is designed for the non-specialist who would like to learn techniques for integrating the Masorah into Hebrew and Hebrew Bible courses. Presenters will cover these topics: Is the Masorah difficult; Why teach the Masorah; Materials which are important for the study of the Masorah; How to work Masoretic notes; How to structure a course on the Masorah.

Teaching Biblical Literature in an Undergraduate Liberal Arts Context (23-241)

Monday, 1:00 PM to 3:30 PM, MR - Balcony N

With the theme "Biblical Studies and Liberal Education," this session offers responses to AAR's White Paper on the Religion Major. The AAR-Teagle White Paper may be found at http://www.aarweb.org/Programs/Religion_Major_and_Liberal_Education/Teagle_WhitePaper.pdf. It also examines popular biblical studies textbooks, the decline of introduction to biblical literature courses, and how biblical literature fits into the "liberal arts."

The Bible and the Hermeneutics of Liberation

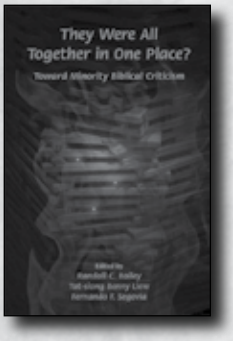

Alejandro F. Botta and Pablo R. Andiñach, editors

The same Bible that historically has been invoked to support exploitation is also a source of inspiration for those fighting oppression and injustice. This collection of essays highlights the different receptions that liberationist hermeneutics has found in a number of contemporary contexts. The authors, originating from various countries and continents and nurtured by diverse theological insights, provide regional overviews of liberating struggles and liberation hermeneutics or engage the biblical text from various perspectives, including mujerista and feminist Afrocentric readings. This is an enriching panorama of ideas and readings all centered on the Bible as a key to liberation.

They Were All Together in One Place?

Toward Minority Biblical Criticism

Randall C. Bailey, Tat-siong Benny Liew, and Fernando F. Segovia, editors

Critics from three major racial/ethnic minority communities in the United States—African American, Asian American, and Latino/a American—focus on the problematic of race and ethnicity in the Bible and in contemporary biblical interpretation. With keen eyes on both ancient text and contemporary context, contributors pay close attention to how racial/ethnic dynamics intersect with other differential relations of power such as gender, class, sexuality, and colonialism.

Method Matters

Essays on the Interpretation of the Hebrew Bible in Honor of David L. Petersen

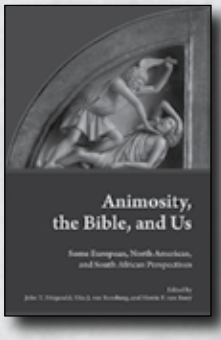

Joel M. LeMon and Kent Harold Richards, editors

Distinguished colleagues of David L. Petersen present this volume as an authoritative and up-to-date handbook of methods in Hebrew Bible scholarship. It includes focused discussions of traditional and newly emerging methods as well as numerous case studies. Additionally, several essays provide a broad overview of the field by reflecting on the intellectual currents that have generated and guided contemporary biblical scholars.

Animosity, the Bible, and Us

Some European, North American, and South African Perspectives

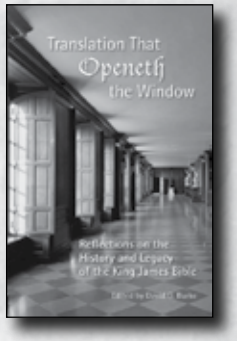

John T. Fitzgerald, Fika J. van Rensburg, and Herrie F. van Rooy, editors

Animosity in its various forms, including enmity, war, homicide, domestic violence, religious hostility, and retaliation, is a perennial problem that has plagued every form of interpersonal and international relationship since the dawn of human existence. The essays in this volume, offering perspectives from three continents, examine how animosity is understood and presented in the biblical text and its historical and literary contexts. The authors recognize at the same time that the Bible itself and how it has been used have sometimes contributed to the problem of animosity and thus seek to glean any insights that might address this problem in the contemporary world, which today is a pressing global concern.

Translation That Openeth the Window

Reflections on the History and Legacy of the King James Bible

David G. Burke, editor

In their elegant but often overlooked preface to the King James Bible, the translators asserted, "Translation it is that openeth the window, to let in the light; that breaketh the shell, that we may eat the kernel; that putteth aside the curtain, that we may look into the most holy place; that removeth the cover of the well, that we may come by the water."

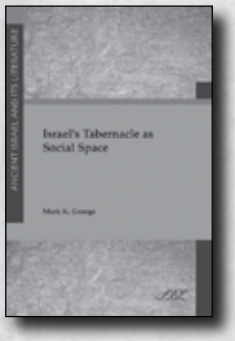

In celebration of the work of these translators and the fruit of their labors, the authors of this volume, representing a wide range of disciplines and perspectives, examine the cultural and religious monument that is the King James Bible. By looking at the historical context in which the translation was born, exploring its beauty and complexity, and evaluating its lasting impact on church and society throughout the English-speaking world, this volume provides a comprehensive introduction to the King James Bible and its influence throughout the centuries.

Israel's Tabernacle as Social Space

Mark K. George

Using a spatial poetics to reexamine the narratives about Israel's tabernacle, George argues that the Priestly writers encode a particular understanding of Israel's identity and self-understanding in tabernacle space. His examination of Israel's tabernacle narratives makes space itself the focus of analysis and in so doing reveals the social values, concerns, and ideas that inform these narratives.

The Sicarii in Josephus's Judean War

Rhetorical Analysis and Historical Observations

Mark Andrew Brighton

This book offers a comprehensive study of the Sicarii in Josephus's Judean War. After detailed rhetorical analyses, the work concludes that "Sicarii" was a somewhat fluid term used to describe Jews of the Judean revolt who were associated with acts of violence against their own people for religious/political ends.

The Desert Will Bloom

Poetic Visions in Isaiah

A. Joseph Everson and Hyun Chul Paul Kim, editors

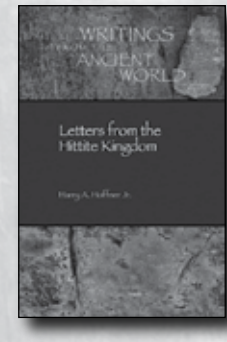

Isaiah's vision of the future is nothing less than a portrait of shalom involving peace, wholeness, and hope both for the human community and the earth. Throughout the scroll, imagery drawn from nature affirms that renewal of life, like the renewal of the earth, is possible for the human family. These essays examine specific texts, interpreting important language and imagery in those texts, delineating the functions and implications of such imagery and metaphors throughout the entire book of Isaiah, and presenting fresh methodological and interpretive considerations in reading Isaiah.

Letters from the Hittite Kingdom

Harry A. Hoffner Jr.

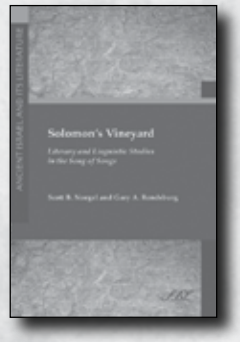

This is the first book-length collection in English of letters from the ancient kingdom of the Hittites, reproduced here in romanized transcription and English translation, accompanied by introductory essays, explanatory notes on the text and its translation, and a complete description of the rules of Hittite correspondence. Letters containing correspondence between kings and their foreign peers, between kings and provincial officials, and between these officials themselves reveal rich details of provincial administration, the relationships and duties of the officials, and tantalizing glimpses of their private lives.

Solomon's Vineyard

Literary and Linguistic Studies in the Song of Songs

Scott B. Noegel and Gary A. Rendsburg

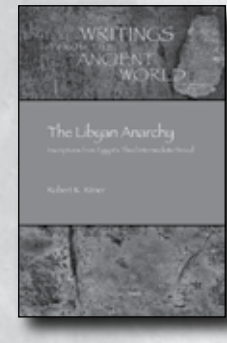

This monograph includes four lengthy studies on the Song of Songs, which together identify the northern dialect of the poetry, focus on the literary devices of alliteration and variation, and propose that the composition is akin to medieval Arabic hija' and tashbib (or invective) poetic genres, aimed at critiquing the king and his court. The authors conclude that the poem was written during the period of the two monarchies with the goal of censuring King Solomon and his descendants on the throne in Jerusalem.

The Libyan Anarchy

Inscriptions from Egypt's Third Intermediate Period

Robert K. Ritner

Spanning six centuries and as many dynasties, Egypt's turbulent Third Intermediate Period extended from approximately 1100 to 650 B.C.E. This volume, the first extensive collection of Third Intermediate Period inscriptions in any language, includes the primary sources for the history, society, and religion of Egypt during this complicated period, when Egypt was ruled by Libyan and Nubian dynasties and had occasional relations with Judah and the encroaching, and finally invading, Assyrian Empire. It includes the most significant texts of all genres, newly translated and revised.

The Second Church
Popular Christianity A.D. 200–400

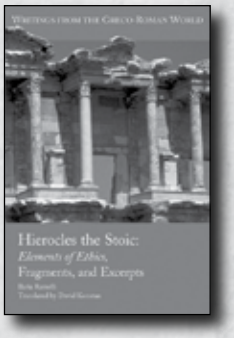

Ramsay MacMullen

Ramsay MacMullen, in his fifth book on ancient Christianity, uses excavation reports about hundreds of churches of the fourth century to show what worshipers did in them and in the cemeteries where most of them were built. What emerges, in this richly illustrated work, is a religion that ordinary Christians, by far the majority, practiced in a different and largely forgotten "second" church. The "first" church—the familiar one governed by bishops—in part condemned, in part tolerated, and in part re-shaped the church of the many. Even together the two constituted, by the end of the period, a total of the population far smaller than has ever been suggested, raising questions about the place of religion in the life of the times and in the social composition of both churches.

Hierocles the Stoic: Elements of Ethics, Fragments, and Excerpts

Ilaria Ramelli
Translated by David Konstan

In this volume, all of the surviving works of Hierocles, the Stoic philosopher of the early imperial age, are translated into English for the first time, with the original Greek and a facing English translation: the Elements of Ethics and all fragments and excerpts from the treatise On Duties, dealing mainly with social relationships, marriage, household, and family. Ramelli's introductory essay demonstrates how Hierocles was indebted to the Old Stoa and how he modified its doctrines in accord with Middle Stoicism and further developments in philosophy as well as his personal views. The extensive commentary clarifies philosophical questions raised by the text and provides rich and updated references to existing scholarship.

Rethinking the Gospel Sources, Volume 2
The Unity and Plurality of Q

Delbert Burkett

This work examines three disputed issues in the study of Q, the hypothetical source common to the Gospels of Matthew and Luke: its existence; its unity as a document; and the plurality of its wording. It evaluates the arguments for and against the existence of Q and concludes that some form of the Q hypothesis is necessary. It presents new evidence that most of the Q material existed as a single written source unified by recurring features of style and theme. Finally, it argues that differences between Matthew and Luke in the wording of Q were caused most often when one Evangelist replaced or combined Q with parallel material from another source.

Sources for the Study of Greek Religion
Corrected Edition

David G. Rice and John E. Stambaugh

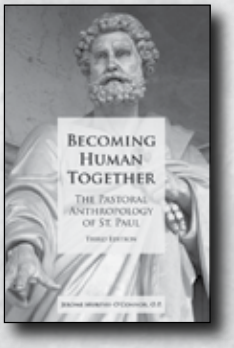

This corrected edition includes primary texts and documents in translation, illustrating the range of Greek religious beliefs and practices from Homer to Alexander the Great with the addition of relevant post-classical material. Chapters are devoted to the Olympian gods, heroes, public religion, private religion, mystery cults, and death and afterlife. Introductory notes place the selections in their context in Greek history and provide basic bibliography. The volume includes a glossary of technical terms, a general index, and an index of ancient sources cited.

Naḥmanides on Genesis
The Art of Biblical Portraiture

Michelle J. Levine

The biblical commentary of the foremost thirteenth century Spanish exegete, Rabbi Moses ben Nahman (Naḥmanides), on the stories of Genesis, provides a penetrating analysis of the Bible's diverse literary strategies of characterization. This volume presents Naḥmanides' illuminating ideas on how this ancient text portrays a wide array of characters. His literary approach is analyzed in light of earlier influences and is compared to modern readings of the Genesis stories, demonstrating his concern with many of the same literary issues which interest modern readers.

Between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea?
French Jewry and the Problem of Church and State

Zvi Jonathan Kaplan

This book examines the development of Jewish positions on the relationship between church and state in France from the French Revolution until the 1905 law of separation. It is a comprehensive study of the complex interplay among all segments of the Jewish population and the community's attempt to come to terms with its social and religious status in the nineteenth century.

Tangled Up in Text
Tefillin and the Ancient World

Yehudah B. Cohn

This book locates the Jewish tefillin ritual within the cultural matrix that engendered its origins and development, with particular focus on the reception history of relevant biblical passages, the archaeological evidence of the Dead Sea Scrolls, and detailed investigation of rabbinic literature to the third century C.E. All these sources are evaluated against the backdrop of comparative data for the use of magical amulets in the ambient Greco-Roman world, in the light of which the author demonstrates that tefillin originated and persisted as popular protective amulets, and were an invented tradition of the Hellenistic era.

Schüssler Fiorenza explores a radical democratic ethos in graduate biblical education, provocatively arguing that biblical meaning must be constantly evaluated rather than unquestioningly accepted, and warning about the pitfalls of using the Bible to find definite answers and exclude different understandings. This is a cutting-edge work by a world-renowned scholar.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS
Interpretation: Resources for the Use of Scripture in the Church
Patrick D. Miller
August • Hardback
$39.95 (UK £26.99)
9780664230555

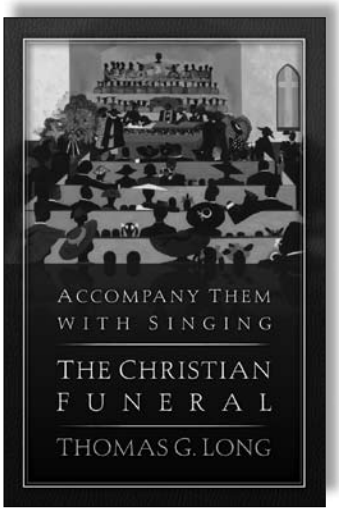

WJK is proud to introduce an exciting new phase in the renowned Interpretation commentary series. Instead of focusing on individual books of the Bible, the expanded series will focus on the Bible's most enduring passages and vital themes. In this first offering, Miller studies the Ten Commandments as ancient document and as contemporary guide. With careful attention to each commandment in its original context, this book shows the reader the modern relevance of these basic principles, as well as how the ideas of each commandment influenced the New Testament.

ACCOMPANY THEM WITH SINGING—THE CHRISTIAN FUNERAL

Thomas G. Long
October • Hardback
$24.95 (UK £16.99)
9780664233198

In this guide to conducting meaningful and theologically sound funerals, Long describes how the Christian funeral developed and discusses recent trends in funeral practices, including the rise in cremations and memorial services, and warns against practices that seem theologically sound but depart from the central concept of the funeral as the last leg of the deceased's baptismal journey toward God.

ECCENTRIC EXISTENCE, TWO VOLUME SET

A Theological Anthropology

David H. Kelsey
October • Hardback
$79.95 (UK £53.99)
9780664220525

In this important and complete examination of theological anthropology, Kelsey posits that God actively relates to human beings in three ways: God creates them; God is there at the end of all things; and God reconciles humans when they are alienated from God. In understanding this, we are led to consider the simple yet endlessly complex question, What does it mean to be human?

20-202b SBL Publishing Workshop

1:00 PM–5:00 PM

MR - Balcony N

A successful academic career requires publishing original works of scholarship. Original is not all that counts. The workshop introduces the twin pillars of the academic career. First, it surveys the essentials of academic publishing by exploring the basic elements of a book contract, copyright law, and responsibilities of an author and a publisher. Second, the workshop evaluates the characteristics of typical scholarly writing and shows how writing well can enhance your odds of being heard in the white noise of academia. Anyone wanting to learn more about writing, editing, and publishing will find this workshop useful. The fee includes the four hour workshop, course materials, and a copy of the SBL Handbook of Style.

Register for the workshop when you register for the meeting. If you have already registered for the meeting, please contact Theresa Stowe at 404-727-2338 or theresa.stowe@sbl-site.org.

NEW from Marcus J. Borg and John Dominic Crossan

The First Paul

Reclaiming the Radical Visionary Behind the Church's Conservative Icon

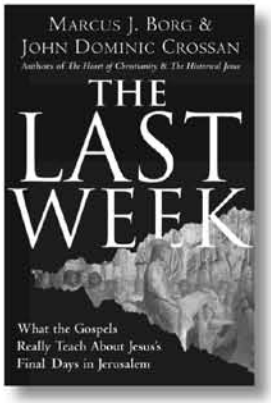

Marcus J. Borg & John Dominic Crossan

$24.99

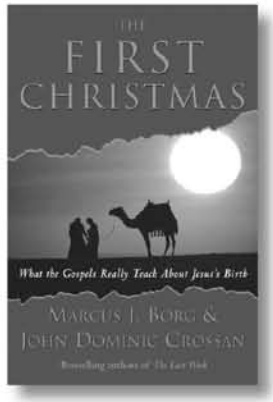

"Borg and Crossan reveal a figure who, besides being neither anti-Semitic, anti-sex, nor misogynist, stresses social and political equality among Christians and between them and others. A refreshing and heartening exculpation of a still routinely maligned figure of the first importance to culture and civilization."

Advance Praise

"A unique and important commentary. . . . It is a milestone in the collection and comparative interpretation of ancient Near Eastern texts, pictures, and other archaeological materials as well as geographical, historical, and cultural information as they relate to the Old Testament. There is nothing else like it available today."

—Richard E. Averbeck, Professor of Old Testament and Semitic Languages, Trinity Evangelical Divinity School

"An impressive and rich resource for scholars, students, seminarians, and interested lay readers. . . . The volumes, with their insightful and perceptive commentaries, updated footnotes, wonderful illustrations, and sidebars—all judiciously researched—contain a veritable thesaurus of enlightening information relating to the Hebrew Bible within the cultural, ideological, and religious world of the ancient Near East. Notwithstanding their traditional approach to Scripture, I heartily recommend this series with enthusiasm."

—Shalom Paul, Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Bible Department, Hebrew University

(How) Does Calvin Matter Now? Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.) pastors and scholars (and interested others) are invited to this meeting dedicated to doing theology for the church. How does Calvin matter in the life of a (Presbyterian/Reformed) congregation, in the life of a presbytery, amidst the theological disciplines? Does Calvin still matter in any or all of these contexts? A panel made up of a pastor, a professor, and a governing body leader will offer presentations that will be engaged in discussion by the panel, other invited respondents, and those in attendance. This will be the only formal gathering for Presbyterian Scholars sponsored by the PC(USA) during the 2009 Annual Meeting.

21-237 SBL Using the SBL Fonts

1:00 PM–2:30 PM

SH - Gallier AB

SBL has recently developed Greek and Hebrew fonts for use in scholarly writing. This session will provide an overview of these fonts and how to use them in both Windows and Macintosh computing platforms. There will also be a time for questions about some of the difficulties and challenges of Unicode in these computing environments. This session is open to users of all skill levels who are interested in learning more about how to use SBL Hebrew and SBL Greek.

• ISBN 978 90 04 15760 6
• List price EUR 17.- / US$ 19.95

Who discovered the Dead Sea Scrolls? When and where were they discovered? How were they saved? Who has them now? Will more be discovered? Have all the scrolls been published? Are some still hidden away? Were there conspiracies to suppress some scrolls? How do the scrolls affect Christianity and Judaism? How similar are the biblical scrolls to our Bible today? These and other questions are answered in The Dead Sea Scrolls. A Short History, which offers information from exclusive interviews and unpublished archives.

A GREEK-ENGLISH LEXICON OF THE SEPTUAGINT

MURAOKA T.

This complete lexicon supercedes its two earlier editions (1993; 2002).

* The entire Septuagint, including the apocrypha, is covered.
* For the books of Samuel, Kings, Chronicles, and Judges the so-called Antiochene edition is fully covered in addition to the data as found in the standard edition by Rahlfs.
* Also fully covered are the two versions of Tobit, Esther, and Daniel.
* Based on the critically established Göttingen edition where it is available. If not, Rahlfs's edition is used.
* For close to 60% of a total of 9,550 headwords all the passages occurring in the LXX are either quoted or mentioned.
* A fully fledged lexicon, not a glossary merely listing translation equivalents in English.
* Senses defined.
* Important lexicographical data such as synonyms, antonyms, idiomatic expressions, distinction between literal and figurative, combinations with prepositions, noun cases, syntagmatic information such as what kind of direct or indirect objects a given verb takes, what kind of nouns a given adjective is used with, and much more information abundantly presented and illustrated with quotes, mostly translated.
* High-frequency lexemes such as prepositions and conjunctions fully analysed.
* Data on contemporary Koine and Jewish Greek including the New Testament taken into account.
* Morphological information provided: various tenses of verbs, genitive forms of nouns etc.
* Substantive references to the current scientific literature.

An indispensable tool for students of the Septuagint, the New Testament, Hellenistic Judaism, and the Greek language.

REPETITIONS AND VARIATIONS IN THE FOURTH GOSPEL
Style, Text, Interpretation

VAN BELLE G., LABAHN M., MARITZ P. (EDS.)

This publication collects the majority of papers presented at the challenging colloquium on "Repetitions and Variations in the Fourth Gospel" at the K.U.Leuven held from 7 - 9 November 2006 in Leuven. Articles that have been added are a direct result of the colloquium.
The colloquium was planned with this publication in mind, wishing to contribute to an understanding of the Fourth Gospel's language and style in relation to the Synoptic Gospels and in manifesting its unity in theme and language. The contributors mostly represent new approaches to understanding the composition and nature of the Fourth Gospel. Therefore the historical overview of past research is most helpful in placing these new approaches.

THE LETTER TO THE ROMANS

SCHNELLE U. (ED.)

The Letter to the Romans is undoubtedly one of the most important texts of the New Testament. In this volume, exegetes from all over the world interpret central texts of the Letter to the Romans and connect them with topical questions. Who wants to get acquainted with the current state of international research on the Letter to the Romans has to read this book.

INFANT MILK OR HARDY NOURISHMENT?
The Bible for Lay People and Theologians in the Early Modern Period

FRANCOIS W., DEN HOLLANDER A.A. (EDS.)

The Pauline expressions "infant milk" and "hardy nourishment" or "solid food" (cf. 1 Cor 3,2 and Heb 5,12-14) have frequently been used by the Church fathers, medieval preachers and early modern writers, to voice the contrasting opinions that the words of Scripture are either simple to understand for the uneducated laity, or only discernable for professional theologians. Hence, the present volume considers the place of the Scriptures in both lay spirituality and in theological thinking. It includes a wide range of articles, dealing with vernacular Bible translations intended for common people, visual Bible culture, Bible commentaries written by theologically and philologically skilled scholars, and other related topics.

FLORILEGIUM LOVANIENSE
Studies in Septuagint and Textual Criticism in Honour of Florentino García Martínez

AUSLOOS H., LEMMELIJN B., VERVENNE M. (EDS.)

Like the personality of the celebrated scholar himself, the composition of his Festschrift has become a most colourful undertaking. After the editor's presentation of the rich biography and the huge bibliography of Florentino García Martínez, M. Vervenne aims at evoking Florentino's personality throughout his life and work. Following this introduction, some thirty contributions transform the Festschrift into a wide-ranging collection of high quality approaches to a number of diverse topics, thus mirroring the wide spectrum of both Florentino's and their own work. Each contribution has somehow to do with Textual Criticism and/or Septuagint Studies. In addition, they echo the aspects and details of the interest and work of each individual scholar.

"YOU ARE MY SON"
The Reception History of Psalm 2 in Early Judaism and the Early Church

JANSE S.

This award-winning study characterizes Psalm 2 as a messianic-theocratic psalm. Early Jewish literature emphasises the eschatological and sapiential applications of the psalm more than the messianic interpretation. However, surprisingly, we come across the same text combinations that later emerge in New Testament literature: Christian scholarship obviously stood in a long tradition.
It is shown how the relevant New Testament texts focus on the messianic interpretation of Psalm 2, especially of the words: "You are my Son". In the post-Easter confusion it functions as an argument to show that the crucified Jesus nevertheless was the Son of God. Luke apologetically explains how in this psalm the Messiah, identified earlier as the despised king, is also called "My Son" by God himself. Mark elaborates this idea for catechetical purposes: Jesus already was the Son of God at the time of his baptism and transfiguration. Finally, Hebrews uses Ps.2 to prove the pre-existence of Jesus.
Thus, this volume forms a welcome addition to the existing literature on this topic.

PROPHECY AFTER THE PROPHETS?
The Contribution of the Dead Sea Scrolls to the Understanding of Biblical and Extra-Biblical Prophecy

DE TROYER K., LANGE A., SCHULTE L.A. (EDS.)

It is often said that prophecy came to an end in the early Second Temple period. This volume investigates how the Dead Sea Scrolls help to better understand Israelite Jewish prophecy and Israelite-Jewish prophetic texts. However, it not only contributes to the study of prophecy and the prophetic books of the Hebrew Bible by analyzing the textual history and interpretative history of prophetic books – the former being concerned with the manuscripts of prophetic books found in Qumran and elsewhere, the latter being focused on para-prophetic texts and commentaries – it also investigates the phenomenon of active prophecy, i.e. ongoing prophetic activities, after the early Second Temple period, long after prophecy came to its so-called end.

EPHEMERIDES THEOLOGICAE LOVANIENSES
Louvain Journal of Theological and Canonical Studies

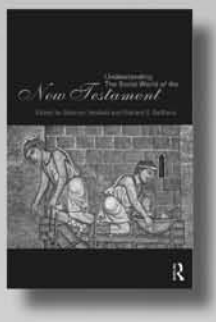

Ephemerides Theologicae Lovanienses annually publishes four fascicles (approximately 1500 pages) containing a series of articles reflecting theological research, reviews or notices relevant to the Opera ad redactionem missa, a Chronicle and an extensive Elenchus Bibliographicus. The annual bibliography contains those publications – studies and articles – of the previous year relevant to the whole range of theological and canonical disciplines: the history of theology, history of religions, Old and New Testament, dogmatic theology, moral and pastoral theology, sacramentology and liturgy, canon law. The journal constitutes an exceptionally valuable resource for those who wish to keep abreast of research in theology and canon law.

M22-201 Introducing Discourse Studies to Intermediate Greek Students

1:00 PM–3:30 PM

SH - Oakley

Discourse approaches to the Greek New Testament have been restricted largely to specialist programs or the most advanced seminars. What has been lacking is an understandable approach focused on practical exegetical issues. This meeting presents a new suite of discourse-based materials focused on teaching and exegesis drawn from the cutting edge of linguistic research. The textbook provides the perfect complement to standard intermediate texts. The analyzed Greek text annotates occurrences of the most significant discourse devices, functioning as a discourse commentary with which students may interact. Whether you are new to discourse studies or wanting to sharpen your skills, come see how these materials can complement your current curriculum (For more information, see www.ntdiscourse.org/SBL).

■ Lexikon der Bibelhermeneutik

Begriffe – Methoden – Theorien – Konzepte

[Dictionary of Biblical Hermeneutics]

Ed. by Oda Wischmeyer

07/2009. LXX, 695 pp.
Cl. € 169.95 / *US$ 238.00.
ISBN 978-3-11-019277-3
Print + eBookPLUS € 199.95/*US$ 280.00
ISBN 978-3-11-022018-6

The dictionary brings together concepts relating to the theories, methods and conceptions of Bible interpretations under the central heading of a text-referenced hermeneutics. The resultant textual hermeneutics of the Bible forms a new paradigm which does not regard the Bible primarily as Gospel or Holy Scripture but views it from a textual and literary studies perspective as a "Supratext".

■ Metamorphoses

Resurrection, Body and Transformative Practices in Early Christianity

Ed. by Turid Karlsen Seim, Jorunn Økland

05/2009. VI, 401 pp.
Hc. € 88.00 / *US$ 98.00

ISBN 978-3-11-020299-1
(Ekstasis: Religious Experience from Antiquity to the Middle Ages 1)

This volume explores the social and philosophical frameworks within which transformative ideas such as resurrection and practices of becoming "a new being" were shaped. It also explores the analogies and parameters by which transformation was being observed, noted and asserted. The focus on transformation helps to connect topics that tend to be studied separately, such as cosmology, resurrection, aging, gender, and conversion.

(Commentaries on Early Jewish Literature)

This study provides the key to one of the most enigmatic Jewish Hellenistic texts preserved in Greek and Slavonic. It demonstrates that the textual history of 3 Baruch, implicit meanings and structural links in its text, as well as conceptions behind the text, are partly reconstructable. Moreover, 3 Baruch, properly read, significantly enriches our understanding of the history of the motifs found in early Jewish lore, at times providing missing links between different stages of their development, and preserves important evidence on the roots of Jewish mysticism, proto-Gnostic and proto-Christian traditions.

The Works of Saint Augustine

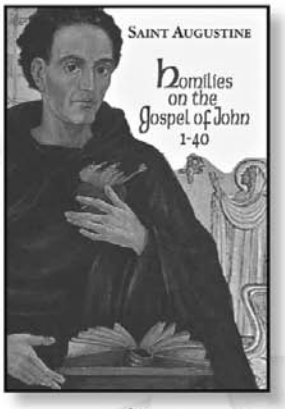

The Finest Translations of the Complete Works of Christendom's Greatest Apologist

HOMILIES on the GOSPEL of JOHN (1-40)

SAINT AUGUSTINE
Translated by Edmund Hill, O.P.

"The English reads smoothly and clearly.... Highly recommended."
Library Journal

Few ancient Christian authors attempted anything like a complete commentary on the Gospel of John, among them Origen, John Chrysostom and Augustine. Of these, Augustine's must count as the greatest. Unlike Origen's, it has come down to us in its entirety, and of the others that remain it is certainly the most theologically profound. John's gospel allows Augustine to range broadly over themes that were his life's work — the Trinity, the person of Christ, the nature of the Church and its sacraments, the fulfillment of the divine plan.

Jorge Luis Borges

D.T. Suzuki

William Blake

Dr. Mehmet Oz

Ralph Waldo Emerson

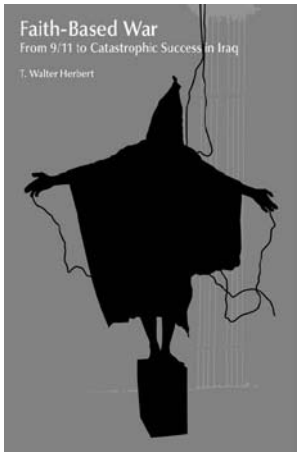

*All Were Influenced by Emanuel Swedenborg

Emanuel Swedenborg, eighteenth-century scientist and theologian, wrote influential insights describing the "spiritual architecture" of the natural and spiritual worlds. His writings have influenced these and other writers, such as J.M.G. Le Clezio, Nobel Prize-winning author, who used the phrase "spiritual architecture" to describe the vastness of Swedenborg's vision.

Come by booth 227 at the Society of Biblical Literature meeting to learn more about these monumental works. You can also see copies of the new translations that are available in accessible, understandable English, newly translated from Neo-Latin by a stellar team of scholars. These volumes are available in high quality print editions, digital formats, and paperbacks. They are also available in custom course books through Professor's Choice.

Quality Academic Publishing Still Strong at Gorgias Press Despite the Recession

Gorgias Press LLC, an academic publisher in the humanities, established a program for assisting scholars to publish their academic manuscripts during the recession and beyond.

Scholars continue to write books, but due to the economic downturn, some academic publishers are reducing the number of books they plan to publish or asking authors for financial support so as to make viable the production of their books. Gorgias, however, was able to increase its production of academic books. In fact, during the first six months of 2009, Gorgias has already put out more than 100 titles. It has been able to do this because its business model was first created in 2001, the year of—and as a result of—the dot com crash. "Gorgias was established during the 2001 recession," says George Kiraz, President of Gorgias Press. "The business model we built was designed to withstand a falling economy."

Scholars whose books were initially accepted by reputable presses, but have been turned down because of the economy, or who have been asked now to subsidize the publication, can turn to Gorgias. Publishing with Gorgias is a straightforward process. The author submits a book with proof that the book was initially accepted at another reputable academic publisher. Gorgias will still go through its editorial review processes to ensure quality but will guarantee results within three months. Email your submission to submissions@gorgiaspress.com or you can drop by the Gorgias Booth (nos 424, 426) during the meeting.

Introducing New Series from Gorgias Press

Biblical Intersections

Including the Hebrew Bible and New Testament this series presents studies that explore the biblical literature as a product as well as a reflection of the world in which it was produced. In addition to studies that take an historical approach, this series also examines the biblical text from alternative perspectives, including social-scientific, theological, literary, and cultural studies approaches.

Bible in Technology

The Bible in Technology (BIT) is a series that explores the intersection between biblical studies and computer technology.

Perspectives on Hebrew Scriptures Series now accepting monographs and edited collections

Now Available

Carl Brockelmann's Lexicon Syriacum by Michael Sokoloff

The second edition of Carl Brockelmann's Lexicon Syriacum, published in 1928, is the best dictionary of Syriac ever written. However, its Latin language and the ordering of words according to triliteral Semitic roots make its use difficult for most students and scholars. This revised edition by Sokoloff renders meanings in English, arranges words alphabetically, and includes many useful tools on a CD. This dictionary is an essential tool for anyone working in Syriac studies, Semitic linguistics, and biblical studies. (Gorgias Eisenbrauns joint publication discount)

Theme: Use and Abuse of Assyriology in Deuteronomistic History Research

While recognizing the extraordinarily fruitful impact of nascent Assyriology on biblical studies, Francis Brown's Assyriology: Its Use and Abuse in Old Testament Study (1885) precociously sounded a warning against poor methodology in comparative use of cuneiform sources. Today various Assyriological texts have come to constitute staple items in Deuteronomistic History research, yet questions remain as to the appropriateness of, for example, the so-called Vassal Treaties of Esarhaddon or the Middle Assyrian Laws to biblical studies.

JOURNAL OF
Feminist Studies in Religion
JFSR

Journal of Feminist Studies in Religion
EDITED BY ELISABETH SCHÜSSLER FIORENZA AND MELANIE JOHNSON-DEBAUFRE

The Journal of Feminist Studies in Religion, the oldest interdisciplinary, inter-religious feminist academic journal in religious studies, is a channel for the publication of feminist scholarship in religion and a forum for discussion and dialogue among women and men of differing feminist perspectives. Its editors are committed to rigorous thinking and analysis in the service of the transformation of religious studies as a discipline and the feminist transformation of religious and cultural institutions.

PUBLISHED SEMIANNUALLY
eISSN 1553-3913 | pISSN 8755-4178

JFSR Volume 25 Issue 1 Special Issue: In Honor of Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza

This special issue of JFSR highlights leading feminist scholar Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza's contributions to feminist studies in religion through various constructive engagements with her work. This volume engages the work of Schüssler Fiorenza from areas of interest beyond Christian Testament studies. In the process, key theoretical models in feminist studies in religion and feminist theologies that Schüssler Fiorenza has pioneered — critical rhetorical feminist analysis and critical liberationist feminist theology — are explored, applied, and developed in new and creative ways, demonstrating the ongoing vibrancy of the field of feminist studies in religion.

NEW FROM JPS

THE COMMENTATORS' BIBLE

The JPS Miqra'ot Gedolot: Leviticus

By Michael Carasik, Ph.D.

$75.00 cloth 270 pages ISBN: 978-0-8276-0897-9

The second volume of the acclaimed English edition of Miqra'ot Gedolot

Praise for the first volume, The Commentators' Bible: Exodus:

"Anyone who is unfamiliar with medieval commentary, or who is unable to study the commentators in the original Hebrew, will find The Commentators' Bible a worthy addition to their bookshelves. Carasik has done a real service making this material available." —The Reporter

"The importance of this volume cannot be overestimated—for the first time, we have a responsible translation of the miqra'ot gedolot ... that is accessible to those without great facility in Hebrew."—Jbooks.com

The Commentators' Bible: Exodus
$75.00 cloth 368 pages ISBN: 978-0-8276-0812-2

SUBVERSIVE SEQUELS IN THE BIBLE

How Biblical Stories Mine and Undermine Each Other

By Judy Klitsner

$35.00 cloth 215 pages ISBN: 978-0-8276-0888-7

A fresh look at familiar stories, by a master Bible teacher

In this groundbreaking new book, Judy Klitsner pairs biblical stories and draws bold, surprising parallels between biblical passages, revealing previously unexcavated layers of meaning. The result is a series of fresh and original readings of familiar narratives, accessible to both novice and experienced readers of the Bible.

THE JERUSALEM CROWN (KETER) BIBLE

Slip-cased, with Companion Volume

$125 cloth, two volumes, slip-cased; Available only direct from JPS

ISBN: 978-0-8276-0912-9

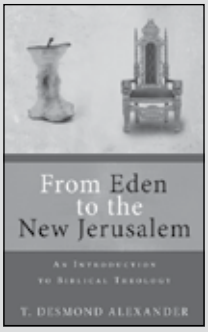

The Jerusalem Crown Bible, Keter Yerushalayim, is the first print edition of the Aleppo Codex. Beautifully produced, the text appears in three columns, with chapter and verse notations, and with the names of the weekly torah portions and their divisions for synagogue reading added. Dr. Mordechai Glatzer, a recognized expert in the history of printing, edited the companion volume, which contains details on the manuscript's significance and in-depth descriptions of its history.

Resources for Studying the Biblical Sources

From Eden to the New Jerusalem
An Introduction to Biblical Theology
T. Desmond Alexander
$19.99 | SBL: $10.00
208 pp | 978-0-8254-2015-3

Believing that a good denouement sheds light on the entire story, T. Desmond Alexander starts from the resolution in Revelation's last verses and works backward, piecing together the Bible's overarching plot.

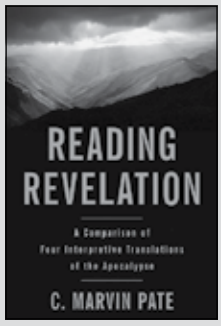

Interpreting the Pentateuch
An Exegetical Handbook
Peter T. Vogt
David M. Howard Jr, Series Editor
$21.99 | SBL: $11.00
240 pp | 978-0-8254-2762-6

In this latest addition to the Handbooks for Old Testament Exegesis series, Peter T. Vogt provides an overview of the major themes of the Pentateuch and, by exploring its genres of law and narrative, offers strategies for interpreting and understanding the first five books of the Bible.

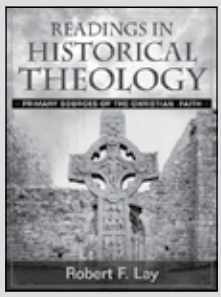

A Not-So-Silent Night
The Unheard Story of Christmas and Why It Matters
Verlyn Verbrugge
$9.99 | SBL: $5.00
104 pp | 978-0-8254-3909-4

Christmas is a time for peace on earth, a time for favorite carols, family dinners, and familiar traditions. It's a beautiful story of a lovely babe in the manger. Or is it?

Reading Revelation
A Comparison of Four Interpretive Translations of the Apocalypse
C. Marvin Pate
$22.99 | SBL: $11.50
384 pp | 978-0-8254-3367-2

The book of Revelation is a rich and hermeneutically complicated Scripture that, unsurprisingly, has no universally accepted interpretation. Reading Revelation provides, in five parallel columns, the Greek text with a literal word-by-word translation alongside the four major interpretive translations.

Readings in Historical Theology
Primary Sources of the Christian Faith
Robert F. Lay
$34.99 | SBL: $17.50
368 pp | 978-0-8254-3067-1

Spanning Old Testament to modern writings, this broad-ranging collection of primary sources that have shaped the theology of Christianity includes informative introductions and guiding questions from the author.

NEW AND RECENT FROM PENN PRESS

AUGUSTINE'S MANICHAEAN DILEMMA, 1

Conversion and Apostasy, 373–388 CE

Jason David BeDuhn

In this first volume of Augustine's Manichaean Dilemma, BeDuhn reconstructs Augustine's decade-long adherence to Manichaeism, apostasy from it, and subsequent conversion to Nicene Christianity. Based on his own testimony and contemporaneous sources from and about Manichaeism, the book situates many features of Augustine's young adulthood within his commitment to the sect, while pointing out ways he failed to understand or put into practice key parts of the Manichaean system.

THE CORPOREAL IMAGINATION

Signifying the Holy in Late Ancient Christianity

Patricia Cox Miller

"A highly original contribution to the history of Christianity as well as to the study of religion. Eloquent and learned, this book offers many new insights and models for reflection. The Corporeal Imagination will appeal to scholars of religion, theologians, historians of late antiquity, and historians of art."—J. Rebecca Lyman, Professor Emerita, Church Divinity School of the Pacific

CONCEIVING ISRAEL

The Fetus in Rabbinic Narratives

Gwynn Kessler

Kessler shows how the rabbis of the third through sixth centuries turned to non-Jewish writings on embryology and procreation to explicate the biblical insistence on the primacy of God's role in procreation at the expense of the biological parents.

Divinations: Rereading Late Ancient Religion

ALIENS AND SOJOURNERS

Self as Other in Early Christianity

Benjamin H. Dunning

"A significant contribution to our understanding of early Christian collective self-definition. Dunning shows that many early Christians used ideas about foreignness and civic belonging to shape and contest what it could mean to become and be Christian in the pluralistic cultures under Roman imperial rule."
—Denise Kimber Buell, Williams College

MUHAMMAD IS NOT THE FATHER OF ANY OF YOUR MEN

The Making of the Last Prophet

David S. Powers

"A vitally important contribution to scholarship on the Qur'an and early Islam."--Fred M. Donner, University of Chicago

David Powers claims that the need for Muhammad to be the "seal of all prophets," combined with the fact that Muhammad apparently had an adopted son, Zayd, created a situation that drove early transmitters of the Qur'an to introduce a group of interrelated deletions, additions and emendations into certain passages of the text.

Critical Studies of the Koran

Dear Colleagues,

The development of the modern democratic state began when scholars first undertook the historical study of the Bible. The critical studies of Wycliffe, Erasmus, Spinoza, Locke, and Reimarus did more to create modern culture then did the theories of any political thinkers. Likewise, the development of democracy in the Islamic world must begin with the critical study of the Koran. This will open the way to dialog between our conflicting cultures.

Today, we need critical studies of the Koran's literary genres, the contexts of its texts, the variations of its manuscripts, exegetical interpretations of its verses, and historical studies of early Islam beginning with Mohammed.

Just as historical-critical study of the Bible raised questions about the status of Jesus within Christianity, so historical-critical study of the Koran will raise questions about the role of Mohammed. Therefore, there will be the same type of opposition to the critical study of the Koran as there previously was to the critical study of the Bible. But is there any other way forward?

To encourage critical Koranic Studies, The Edwin Mellen Press is offering $60,000 for twenty volumes that contribute to this genre (20 advances of $3,000.00 each). The Edwin Mellen Press will also award, biannually, a $10,000 prize for the best single manuscript that it has published in the critical study of the Koran in the years 2012, 2014, 2016, 2018, and 2020.

NIDA INSTITUTE FOR BIBLICAL SCHOLARSHIP
at the American Bible Society

Presents two series that illumine the intersection between Bible translation, Translation Studies, and biblical scholarship

- History of Bible Translation – monographs, dictionaries, and other reference works documenting over two millennia of Bible translation work.
- Translation Conference Papers – collections of papers prepared for international conferences on communications theory, translation studies, culture, and Bible translation.

Series: History of Bible Translation
A History of Bible Translation
Edited by Philip A. Noss

pp. xx–524. 2007.
€ 55,00, $75.00
ISBN 978-88-8498-373-2
ABS Item #120708

A History of Bible Translation, a brief but insightful overview of over 2,000 years of Bible translation, is the inaugural volume in a series of monographs and reference works being undertaken to provide historical perspectives and address important issues relating to the practice of Bible translation. The Nida Institute has a strong commitment to "fill in the information gaps" and to make sure that seldom heard voices from around the world will have an opportunity to share their Bible translation stories.

Sixteen biblical scholars, linguists, theoreticians, and translation professionals have collaborated to present an overview of Bible translation from the time of the Septuagint, the Targums, and the Latin Vulgate through the Reformation and Counter-Reformation, and into the present day where mother-tongue speakers have replaced the missionary translators of the colonial era.

Series: Translation Conference Papers
Similarity and Difference in Translation
Edited by Stefano Arduini and Robert Hodgson, Jr.

pp. 486. 2007.
€54,00, $60.00
ISBN 978-88-8498-374-9
ABS Item #120709

The Nida Institute for Biblical Scholarship sponsors international conferences to bring together experts in linguistics, biblical studies, translation science, media and communications, cultural anthropology, literary studies, and related fields to explore the various challenges these disciplines face in the area or translations and communication. Keynote addresses and papers of special interest are gathered together, introduced, and assessed by volume editors.

There is an important paradox at the heart of translation which requires translators to work simultaneously and consciously with similarity and difference: the translator's work succeeds both because of, and despite this contradiction. The essays in this volume examine this key paradox from four different methodological standpoints: rhetoric, epistemology, semiotics, and culture.

Series: Translation Conference Papers
Translation and the Machine
Edited by Steve Berneking and Scott S. Elliott

pp. viii–212. 2008.
€24,00, $45.00
ISBN 978-88-8498-468-5
ABS Item #120710

From stone to papyrus; from quills to typewriters; from hand-written journals to bound copy; from room-sized mainframes to flash drives: the machine has taken its place in the translational process. This collection of essays reflects an ongoing effort to think critically about how translation and technology interact.

Society Information

The mission of the Society of Biblical Literature is to foster biblical scholarship. This mission is accomplished through seven strategic goals:

- ➤ Collaborate with educational institutions and other appropriate organizations to support biblical scholarship and teaching
- ➤ Develop resources for diverse audiences, including students, religious communities and the general public
- ➤ Encourage study of biblical literature and its cultural contexts
- ➤ Facilitate broad and open discussion from a variety of perspectives
- ➤ Offer members opportunities for mutual support, intellectual growth, and professional development as teachers and scholars
- ➤ Organize congresses for scholarly exchange
- ➤ Publish biblical scholarship

These strategic goals are, in turn, pursued through a number of SBL programs and initiatives under the leadership of SBL volunteers and staff.

Programs and Initiatives

Congresses

The Society's meetings bring together scholars from around the world to foster biblical scholarship by:

- ➤ showcasing the latest in biblical research
- ➤ fostering collegial contacts
- ➤ advancing research
- ➤ highlighting a wide range of professional issues

Annual Meeting

The North American Annual Meeting is the largest international gathering of biblical scholars in the world. Each meeting highlights the study of the Bible, archaeology, related languages and literatures, theology, religion, and contemporary issues such as the Bible in American public education. The Annual Meeting also features the world's largest exhibit of books and digital resources for biblical studies—all of which are also for sale at this congress. Members benefit from the meetings of other organizations that convene at the same time.

International Meeting

The International Meeting is held annually outside North America. The size and varying locales of this meeting provide a unique and intimate forum for scholarly discourse across continents. The program draws attention to the regional interests of biblical scholarship, both in our host institution and as represented in the institutions of our attendees. The meeting usually takes place between the beginning of July and the middle of August.

Publications and Technology

SBL Publications offers a wide variety of resources for biblical studies specialists as well as students in colleges, universities, and seminaries; leaders in church and synagogue settings; and members of the general public. Books published include major reference works, commentaries, text editions and translations, scholarly monographs, tools for teaching and research, and works of general interest. In addition, the SBL serves as the exclusive distributor of all Brown Judaic Studies volumes and as the North American distributor of works by Sheffield Phoenix Press. The Journal of Biblical Literature is one of the oldest and most distinguished journals in biblical scholarship, while the online Review of Biblical Literature offers the most comprehensive review of biblical studies publications. The Society also sponsors the online journal TC: A Journal of Biblical Textual Criticism and The Online Critical Pseudepigrapha. Finally, the Society continues to provide leadership for font development, markup standards, and digitization of primary sources through partnerships with museums and related institutions.

The Profession

Status of Women in the Profession Committee

The Status of Women in the Profession Committee encourages the participation of women in all areas of biblical studies. In pursuit of this mandate, the committee focuses its efforts in the areas of mentoring, networking, and opening biblical studies to greater participation by women. Funding is given for a limited number of non–North American women to attend congresses. The SBL Committee on the Status of Women in the Profession is pleased to announce the 2009 Travel Grant award recipient:

Akintunde Dorcas Olubanke (Ph.D) teaches New Testament Studies/Gender Studies at the Department of Religious Studies, University of Ibadan, Nigeria, with research interest in biblical studies, gender and HIV and AIDS in Africa. She was the Anglophone Coordinator of the Circle of Concerned African Women Theologians between 2002 and 2005. She is currently on a project team researching Primal Religion as the Substructure of Christianity headed by Prof. Andrew Walls and late Prof. Kwame Bediako.

Underrepresented Racial and Ethnic Minorities Committee

The Underrepresented Racial and Ethnic Minorities in the Profession Committee has long supported the recruitment and mentoring of racial and ethnic minority students from among the African American, Asian, Hispanic, and Native American populations.

Student Advisory Group

Started in 2005, the purpose of this advisory group is to coordinate student participation across all Society activities, committees, and programs in an effort to foster greater opportunities for student participation and leadership development. The explicit goals of this group are too:

- ➤ facilitate a greater connection between students and the Society with a view toward lifetime membership, volunteer involvement, and leadership
- ➤ provide resources and programming specifically geared toward student members
- ➤ develop and groom the next generation of leaders

Career Center
The Society's Career Center is a year-round resource for employment, tools, and professional development information. The Career Center offers job listings covering the fields of religious, theological, and biblical scholarship in partnership with the American Theological Library Association, the Canadian Society for Biblical Studies, and the Fund for Theological Education. At the Annual Meeting, the Center provides employers and candidates with interview facilities, job listings, candidate credentials, and a messaging service. The Center also offers other helpful events such as panel reviews of pertinent topics that focus on the "how to" of the application and job-interview process.

Regions
Throughout the academic year, the regions coordinate lectures and conferences that keep the regions active and up to date in the latest biblical research and teaching. These meetings provide an intimate setting for scholarly exchange.

Regional Scholars Program
The eleven regions identify exemplary new scholars, particularly women and underrepresented minorities, for consideration and selection as one of the Society's Regional Scholars. A maximum of six regional scholars are selected each year and given stipends to cover a portion of the cost of attending the Annual Meeting. This year's regional scholars are Jeremy M. Hutton and William M. Wright IV.

Jeremy M. Hutton is assistant professor of Old Testament at Princeton Theological Seminary. He received his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University and his B.A. from the University of Notre Dame. His doctoral dissertation, "The Transjordanian Palimpsest: The Overwritten Texts of Personal Exile in the Deuteronomistic History," took an interdisciplinary approach to the symbolic geography of Transjordan and the Jordan River in the Deuteronomistic History, using concepts and models from anthropological, sociological, and philosophical thought. It is currently in preparation for publication in the BZAW series. Hutton's research interests include the symbolic geography of Transjordan and the Jordan River in the Old and New Testaments, Israelite prophets and the institution of prophecy, anthropological and sociological approaches in biblical interpretation, and the formation and structure of the Deuteronomistic History, especially the books of Samuel. He teaches courses in Biblical Hebrew, prophetic literature, the exegesis of Amos and the Minor Prophets, and historical Hebrew grammar.

William M. Wright IV is a biblical scholar and theologian. His area of specialization is the New Testament and the Gospel according to John in particular. His research interests include the use of Greco-Roman compositional rhetoric in the Gospel literature, the reception of the Old Testament in the New, and the history of interpretation as a resource for contemporary exegesis and theology in light of Catholic Ressourcement theology. He is the author of Rhetoric and Theology: Figural Reading of John 9 (de Gruyter, 2009) and the co-author (with Fr. Francis Martin) of The Gospel of John volume in the Catholic Commentary on Sacred Scripture Series (Baker Academic, forthcoming). His articles have appeared in Catholic Biblical Quarterly, The Thomist, and Nova et Vetera.

International Cooperation Initiative

Presenting Two New International Book Series in Biblical Studies

Ancient Near East Monographs

Published in cooperation with the Centro de Estudios de Historia del Antiguo Oriente (CEHAO), Departamento de Historia, Facultad de Filosofía y Letras, Pontificia Universidad Católica Argentina (UCA), this series focuses on the ancient Near East, including ancient Israel and its literature. Books may be published in either English or Spanish with consideration given to other languages as well. General Editors are Ehud Ben Zvi and Roxana Flammini.

International Voices in Biblical Studies

An exciting new series that accepts proposals for monographs and articles from all over the world. The papers and monographs will be published in English or the native language of the author. The works published in this series will generally be in the area of reception history and criticism and will not be limited to any particular biblical text or historical timeframe. Proposals are now being accepted by the two General Editors, Louis Jonker and Monika Melancthon.

Peer Reviewed ◆ Open Access ◆ Online
